Answers Call

R. L. Bisby, pictured above, manager of the Santa Ana hotel and prominent in civic and business affairs in Santa Ana for the past 40 years, passed away last night following a heart attack.

R. L. Bisby Summoned

Robert L. Bisby, 71, of 606 North Main street, manager of the Santa Ana hotel for the past four years and prominent in Santa Ana civic life for the past 40 years, died suddenly last night.

Born in Shreveport, Louisiana, Mr. Bisby came to Santa Ana two decades ago and started in business with the Bisby and Zerman Fuel company. Three years after his arrival in the county he started the Orange County Business college.

Several years later he left the city to operate a hotel in San Francisco, where he remained until 1906. Having lost the hotel in the fire of that year, he then moved to Long Beach where he operated a restaurant and was secretary of the chamber of commerce until 1913 when he returned to Santa Ana.

Managed Inn
Following his return to Santa Ana he became manager of the Spurgeon Realty company and during the World War directed the Liberty Loan campaign in Orange county. Later he was manager of St. Ann's Inn for six years before moving to Los Angeles. Four years ago Mr. Bisby returned to Santa Ana as manager of the Santa Ana hotel, a position he held until the time of his death. He is survived by the widow, Mrs. Grace Spurgeon Bisby.

Christian Science funeral services will be held at Wimbler's Memorial chapel at 2 p. m. Friday. The body will be cremated at Fairhaven cemetery.

Wallace Defends Farm Program

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—(UP)—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace charged today that Representative Snell, R., N. Y., presented "only one side of the picture" in an attack on the administration's farm program.

"Snell's attack tried to fool people," Wallace said, "into believing that imports are continuing at the same rate as in 1937. The facts are that imports of corn and wheat have practically disappeared since the 1937 harvest, and there have been great gains in exports of wheat and corn, and also of pork, a product of corn."

Meanwhile agricultural department committees prepared to formulate detailed methods of increasing domestic consumption of cotton.

ACTRESS TO WED

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 6.—(UP)—Martha Raye, film comedienne, and David Rose, composer, today announced they planned to be married Saturday at the Playa Encenada hotel, in Baja, California. Miss Raye's divorce from Buddy Westmore, makeup artist, became final Sept. 23.

BEACH CITY READY TO FIGHT FOR SHARE OF OIL ROYALTIES

Determined to secure a substantial royalty for the city of Huntington Beach or start court action to halt tideland drilling work, members of the Huntington Beach city council conferred with officials of the Southwest Exploration company at the Pacific Coast club in Long Beach this afternoon.

The Southwest Exploration company has a contract with the State Lands commission to drill 87 wells west of Twenty-third street into the tideland pool. The company has staked locations for two wells in the barley field of the Standard Oil company. All wells will be whistled into the tidelands.

The Southwest company is controlled by the Signal Oil and Gas company and the Hancock Oil company.

CONFIDENCE VOTE GIVEN

LONDON, Oct. 6.—(UP)—The government won an overwhelming vote of confidence by 366 votes to 144 today on the declaration that its policy on the Czech crisis had averted war in Europe.

In his speech concluding four days of debate on foreign affairs, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain declared that he, not Adolf Hitler, drew up the Munich declaration against war between Germany and Britain, which both statesmen signed.

"Peace Possible"
He said further that he still believes "peace in our time" may be secured, but he does not intend that Britain should disarm until other nations do.

Prior to the vote, the house rejected by 369 to 150 a laborite amendment disapproving the "humiliation" of the country by the sacrifice of Czechoslovakia.

The vote was almost strictly on

HOT BATTLE LOOMS OVER PENSION PLAN

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—(UP)—California's bitter campaign over the "30 Every Thursday" pension plan ended the home stretch today with predictions of victory by its advocates and a renewed assault by its opponents.

Major Democratic candidates favor the plan with varying degrees of enthusiasm. Republicans are vigorously against it on grounds it would precipitate economic chaos.

The plan, on the state ballot as a constitutional amendment, will be voted on at the November general election.

See Victory
San Francisco headquarters of the pension plan forecast at least a 10 to 8 victory at the polls. Managers claimed 215,000 men and women were working for the measure. They claimed at least 800,000 had signed petitions and otherwise made known their support of the plan.

Opponents of the plan, calling economists and businessmen to their assistance, lay down an increasingly heavy barrage of criticism.

The measure provides for issuance of 30 one dollar warrants.

Girl's Slayer Taken To Court

FRESNO, Cal., Oct. 6.—(UP)—Accused by police of shooting his sweetheart when she refused to elope with him, Olen Jones, 23, Fresno cafe worker, was arraigned in police court here today on a murder complaint.

His preliminary hearing was set for Oct. 14.

The victim was Edith Gilliland, 23, a waitress.

According to police reconstruction of the slaying, Jones took the girl in his arms and then shot her six times with an automatic pistol. She died soon afterwards.

The youth fled to Bakersfield where he was captured less than two hours later.

Here's the scene at Wrigley field, Chicago, where 43,000 rabid baseball fans—the stadium's capacity—gathered to watch baseball's classic, open-league—(Acme Telephoto).

DOWNNEY, BANCROFT TO DEBATE ISSUES

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 6.—(UP)—Sheridan Downey and Philip Bancroft, Democratic and Republican nominees for senator, were agreed today to engage in debate.

Downey challenged Bancroft in a letter. He did not mention the $30-every-Thursday pension plan, but Bancroft promptly injected it into the proposition.

Half a dozen public debates on economic and social issues were suggested by the Democratic nominee. Bancroft in accepting the challenge said:

Accepts Challenge
"I have just heard that Mr. Downey has challenged me to debate the issues of the campaign. I shall be only too glad to debate them with him, and as I think it would be a great mistake to deprive the people of California of the opportunity to hear the discussion, I suggest we do our debating over the radio."

"As the challenged party, I have the right to name the weapons, and accordingly let the first debate be upon the subject 'Resolved, That The Ham and Egg Plan is a Snare and a Delusion.'"

Downey had suggested "we meet in joint public debate at such times and places in California as may be mutually agreed upon. I would suggest three or more meetings in Northern California, and a similar number in Southern California."

He told Bancroft he believed "it fair to say we represent directly opposed schools of economic thought."

Name Jury In Fraud Case

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 6.—(UP)—With a jury chosen, lawyers sorted out voluminous records today to save time in court when the expected two months long trial of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance mail fraud case opens in federal court next Tuesday.

Twelve jurors and an alternate, all men, were seated in late yesterday from a panel of 53 which reports to Judge Dave W. Ling's court Tuesday morning.

They will try 13 Los Angeles and San Francisco men, formerly high officials of the insurance company before its reorganization two years ago.

IT MAY BE SO, . . .

GREENCASTLE, Ind., Oct. 6.—(UP)—Prof. Louis H. Dirks, DePauw University, told this one today: He was fishing when he noticed a commotion in the water. He rowed to the spot, found a three-pound bass with a two-pound bass stuck in its throat. He snatched the large one up with his hand, added both to his string.

PAMPHLET JURY TO CHECK ON TESTIMONY OF KEY WITNESS

The grand jury chamber was "dark" today as the special investigation of the political pamphlet, "Fools Rush In," stood at recess until tomorrow.

It was understood that the grand jury is scheduled tomorrow to hear testimony of Gertrude Sincove, secretary to Police Captain Thomason, of the Los Angeles police department's homicide bureau.

It was assumed in official circles that Miss Sincove would be asked for corroboration of a statement by Deputy Sheriff G. F. McKelvey that he left with her certain records of the Los Angeles district attorney's office, after withdrawing them from that office for inspection.

These records are said to have figured in the printing of a second pamphlet that was not distributed.

McKelvey's Story
McKelvey, before the grand jury investigation was called, said that he had obtained the records from the Los Angeles district attorney's office, but found that office closed when he came to return them, so he left them with Captain Thomason's secretary.

Following a brief session yesterday afternoon, the grand jury adjourned until today, but met only to recess again until tomorrow, apparently to await Miss Sincove's appearance.

Valuable Violin Stolen In S. F.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—(UP)—Albert Klingbeil, 71-year-old musician on relief, today reported a rare Stradivarius violin, made in 1700 and valued by collectors at about $7000, was stolen from his room by a burglar.

Klingbeil visited a friend last night. When he returned home his room was in disorder. The Stradivarius, a guitar, satchel, an electric clipper, a pair of field glasses and some clothes were gone.

"I get $18.32 a month on relief," Klingbeil said, "but even if I was poor, I wouldn't sell my violin."

The violin was in Klingbeil's family for 238 years.

Start Work On Bridge Project

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 6.—(UP)—Walker R. Young, supervising engineer for the Central Valley project, today announced the official "go ahead" notice had been given contractors to start construction of a bridge across Sacramento river near Redding for relocation of Southern Pacific railroad track at Shasta dam.

The contract for concrete piers and abutments, amounting to $173,320, was awarded to Clifford A. Dunn of Klamath Falls, Ore. Steel work on the structure, to cost $569,100, will be done by the American Bridge company of Pittsburgh.

The bridge, first permanent work in the railroad relocation unit of the project, will carry the tracks towards the foothills away from the reservoir site.

ITU "ON PROBATION" AT AFL CONVENTION

CONVENTION HALL, HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 6.—(UP)—The American Federation of Labor convention today seated delegates of the International Typographical Union "on probation," mediating another family quarrel in anticipation of a war to the death against the rival Committee for Industrial Organization.

The Typographical union has been feuding with the parent organization over an assessment imposed at the A. F. of L. convention in Denver last year for "organization" purposes. The assessment was rejected in a referendum last spring on the ground that funds raised thereby were to be used to fight another union.

New President
At the time of the referendum the Typographical Union was headed by the late Charles Howard who served as secretary of the C.I.O. and adviser of John L. Lewis. Under the federation's constitution a union is automatically suspended when it fails to pay assessments at the end of a three month period.

The credentials committee today recommended that the Typographical delegates headed by newly elected President Claude M. Baker be seated on the basis of Baker's plea that a new referendum on the assessment issue will be held immediately and that rejection of the delegates' credentials would not solve the problem.

In a letter to the executive council and in a speech before the convention, Baker optimistically forecast that the typographical work-

Perkins Sets Wage Minimum

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—(UP)—Secretary of Labor Perkins today fixed a minimum wage of 40 cents an hour and $16 per week for employees of government suppliers of wool carpets and rugs.

The wage determination, made under provisions of the Walsh-Healey act on recommendation of the public contracts board, applies to 27,000 workers.

The labor department also made public a recommendation by the public contract board that minimum wages ranging from 73 1/2 cents an hour to 62 1/2 cents an hour be paid 26,495 workers by manufacturers who supply the government with labor.

Human Skeleton Mystifies Police

MADERA, Cal., Oct. 6.—(UP)—Madera county authorities today were attempting to solve the mystery behind a human skull and bones found near a ford on the San Joaquin river.

Sheriff O. W. Justice said that although he would seek to learn if the remains were those of a murder victim, his files did not report a murder in that vicinity.

Cal Jennings, 26, stumbled upon the skull while he was hunting frogs along the river bank. He said the rest of the remains were scattered over a wide area.

SWEET SUBSTITUTE

TORONTO, Oct. 6.—(UP)—If a man eats chocolates and sweet desserts with enthusiasm, the chances of him becoming a heavy drinker are remote, Sir Edward Mellanby, British nutrition authority, said in a lecture here.

New Czech Split Seen

BUDAPEST, Oct. 6.—(UP)—Hungary raised insistent demands today for a share of Czechoslovakia—an area almost equal to the combined areas taken by Germany and Poland.

It was understood that the government had sent a note to Prague expressing surprise that no reply had yet been received to Hungary's note of Oct. 3 which requested that the two countries begin at once to negotiate Hungary's claims.

Holds Conclave
Count Stephen Csaky, Hungarian observer at the Munich conference, went to Warsaw by airplane yesterday evening to confer with Polish authorities. Poland was understood to be backing Hungary in a plan to have Czechoslovakia cede to Hungary the entire province of Ruthenia. This would bring the borders of Hungary and Poland together east of the remnant of the Czechoslovak nation and would, as Polish newspapers suggested, enable them to form a barricade against any westward expansion of Russia.

PLUNDERING CHARGED TO CZECH TROOPS
BERLIN, Oct. 6.—(UP)—The German official news agency alleged today that conditions in Zone No. 2 of Czechoslovak Sudetenland, allotted to Germany, were "chaotic."

ESCAPED BANDIT IS JAILED AFTER FIGHT

HICKORY, N. C., Oct.—(UP)—James Godwin, who made love to his blonde girl jailer and persuaded her to release him from his cell in Lexington, was captured here today.

Godwin resisted officers who found him in a barn just south of the city limits, and was wounded in the face with small shot.

P. P. Jones, Hickory police chief, said the wound was not serious.

Godwin and Bill Wilson escaped when Godwin's soft words led Lula Belle Kimmel, the jailer's daughter to give up the key while her father was away on business.

Surrenders
Wilson was recaptured today with Godwin.

Jones said Wilson surrendered and told where officers would find Godwin asleep.

As the city police, accompanied by county officers, approached the barn, Jones said, Godwin shouted that he would "kill anyone who tries to take me." In an exchange of shots that followed Godwin was wounded.

Found Guilty On Morals Charge

SANTA ROSA, Oct. 6.—(UP)—Carl Hahn, 30, convicted on three charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor on the testimony of a 19 year old girl, will appear for sentencing in superior court tomorrow.

It was indicated in testimony at Hahn's trial that he was involved in white slave activities in several Northern California cities, including Eureka, Santa Rosa, Calistoga, Fairfield, Angels' Camp and Fort Bragg.

Lillian Backes, 19, principal witness against Hahn, testified that Hahn made a woman companion had forced her into a life of vice after telling her she could "make money faster than over a counter."

"CIVILIZED" LION ESCAPES FROM CAGE; GOES ON RAMPAGE

WILDWOOD, N. J., Oct. 6.—(UP)—A seven-year-old lion, so civilized he would ride around the walls of a motor drome in a sidecar, became a jungle brute after a few minutes of unexpected freedom last night. He stalked and killed a man and carried him away in his jaws.

He was called "Tuffy," and was a few minutes he had lost everything that civilization had taught, and became a predatory beast.

Thomas Saito, 37, a Japanese auctioneer employed on the boardwalk, was standing on the running board of his parked automobile, preparing to enter it when he heard the screams of the 10-year-old son of his employer sitting in the front seat. At the same instant the lion bore him down.

Escapes Death
The lion had been at large two hours when Patrolman John Gares, searching along the boardwalk,

'DIZ' DRIVEN OUT IN 9TH

By Harry Ferguson
WRIGLEY FIELD, Chicago, Oct. 6.—(UP)—The assassins of "Murderers' Row" blasted Dizzy Dean out of Wrigley field with home runs today and the Yankees won the second game of the World Series from the Chicago Cubs, 6 to 3.

Little Frankie Crosetti swung on one of Dean's "nothing balls" in the eighth inning and it cleared the left field wall by a scant two feet, driving Pinch Hitter Myril Hoag home ahead of him.

But it was a towering blast by Joe DiMaggio, with Tommy Henrich perched on first base in the ninth, in that sent Dizzy on the long, slow march to the showers. Until "Murderers' Row" committed manslaughter, homicide and assault and battery against him, Dizzy was pitching one of the great games of his great career. For the first seven innings Dizzy gave up only three stinging hits and seemed to be on his way to the glory road.

Today's victory almost wrote an epitaph on the chances of the Cubs. The teams roll eastward tonight with the Yankees returning to home ground holding a lead of two games to nothing in a bid for their third consecutive world championship.

The play by play description follows:

GETS TERM TO REST AND EAT

Santa Ana police today refused to permit John Schmid, 67, self-admitted burglar, of Los Angeles, to become a felon. They reduced the charge of burglary upon which Schmid was being held and filed a complaint naming him as a vagrant.

Pleading guilty before City Judge J. G. Mitchell this morning, Schmid was given 10 days in county jail to rest up and eat.

Attracts Attention
Early yesterday, Schmid smashed the show window of the A. F. Granas liquor store, Third and Broadway, stole two quarts of wine, then knocked the bottles against one another to attract attention.

Five minutes later James Gross of the merchants' patrol accommodated Schmid by arresting him. Schmid said he had subsisted on tomatoes and walnuts for more than a week, was famished and wanted to be jailed.

Tells Store Episode
He admitted trying to steal articles from a local five-and-ten cent store, said the manager took the articles away from him, ushered him from the store and told him to stay away.

"I didn't have the nerve to commit suicide," Schmid said. "I tried it a year ago at San Fernando but police saved me." Taken to a restaurant after his arrest, Schmid was fed. He ate two full orders of ham and eggs, including four eggs, potatoes, six slices of toast and four cups of coffee. He likes the Orange county jail food.

NEW AIR FLEET TO AID CHINA FORCES

SHANGHAI, Oct. 6.—(UP)—The Chinese government ordered a new fleet of foreign made airplanes into action today as the Japanese reported new advances in their three-sided push on Hankow.

The planes were sent to the front northeast, southeast and south of the provisional capital where the Japanese, despite staunch Chinese resistance, were gaining ground.

Claim Victories
The latest Japanese reports claimed victories along the south side of the Yangtze river near Panshan and further to the south at Lohi, where Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek opened his final attack on Hankow in the nationalist campaign of 1927 against the Communist administration.

The advance along the south bank of the Yangtze was slow and costly. The advance forces were with the aid of motorized equipment because of the rough country and seas of mud caused by heavy rains.

Verdict Returned In Hit-Run Case

A coroner's jury at the Backs, Terry and Campbell funeral chapel, Anaheim, today held that Charles N. Phillips, 72, North Lemon street, Anaheim, traffic victim, came to his death as the result of being struck by a car driven by an unknown driver who failed to stop and render aid.

Mr. Phillips was struck down early Tuesday morning at North and Los Angeles streets, Anaheim, while crossing the street. Driver of the car which struck him is the object of a state-wide police hunt now.

CHINESE SEEK TO OBTAIN U. S. COTTON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—(UP)—Informed sources said today that China is negotiating for purchase of huge quantities of surplus cotton and wheat held by the federal government and is seeking private credit here for purchase of war materials.

The Chinese, it was indicated, hope to obtain loans from American banking interests to establish credit for purchase of much needed supplies. The Chinese financial mission which recently arrived in this country reportedly is discussing with treasury officials methods of financing the wheat and cotton purchases.

Treasury officials will not discuss the nature of the negotiations. But they admit the conversations involve a broader program than that in effect between China and the United States in the past.

Since 1936, the treasury has had an understanding with China under which specific quantities of Chinese monetary silver is purchased by this government. In return the Chinese have received either gold to back credits established abroad, or dollars with which to purchase commodities in this country.

and that Czech troops were plunging in the area.

After detailing alleged conditions, the agency ended its communication by saying that the Czechoslovak government apparently was no longer in position to maintain order in the Sudeten territory and that looting by Czech troops endangered the entire population.

Entry Delayed

It was made known that Adolf Hitler had left Berlin for Zone No. 1 this morning, traveling by train.

Soon afterward, the official agency said that the German occupation of Zone No. 2, which under the Munich agreement had been delayed beyond schedule because the Czechs were late in vacating certain points, especially Deutschbühl and Kunersdorf.

German troops have entered four occupied zones on time, but completion of the occupation has been delayed in some instances partly because the Czechs have had difficulty in withdrawing promptly because of the brief notice given, and the Germans have given them time to get out.

POLAND TO SUPPORT
HUNGARY DEMANDS

WARSAW, Oct. 6.—(UP)—Poland was understood to have agreed today to support Hungary's demand for cession of territory by Czechoslovakia so as to provide a common Polish-Hungarian frontier.

It was learned that the Polish foreign minister, Joseph Beck, and Count Czakay, secretary of the Hungarian foreign office, agreed at a conference that Poland and Hungary would adopt a joint attitude toward Czechoslovakia.

Under this agreement, Poland would support the Hungarian demand for attachment of the Carpatho-Russian province at the eastern end of Czechoslovakia to Hungary. This would establish a common frontier between Poland and Hungary and further isolate the Czechoslovaks from Soviet Russia.

"We will build it up. We vow."

At the end of the year when there were 52 two-cent stamps on the warrant—or $1—it would be redeemed for $1, with the extra four cents being used to pay the cost of administration.

Many Critics

Among the critics of the plan are the California Bankers Association, the California State Chamber of Commerce, the California State Supervisors Association, the California Farm Bureau Federation and various merchants' associations.

The California Bankers Association and the San Francisco Retail Merchants Association have said they cannot accept the warrants in case the measure is passed.

ers would vote to pay the assessment and remain in the federation. If the referendum fails, he said "we will be out of the federation until such time comes that we can come back in good standing."

William Green, head of the federation, made an impassioned plea for endorsement of the credentials committee's report.

He said that the federation is "not exonerating" Baker's union for failing to pay the assessment, but cautioned that "our enemies would be only too pleased to see us bar these delegates."

"We are not going to be so foolish in these days when a dual movement is seeking to destroy our unions, to drive the I. T. U. out of the A. F. of L."

CIO Rebuffs FDR

There was a roar of "eyes" and only one or two weak "nays" when the question was put.

Green today interpreted the action of John L. Lewis in calling a constitutional convention of the Committee for Industrial Organization as a rebuff to President Roosevelt.

Informed through newspaper dispatches of Lewis' decision to set up a permanent rival organization, announced two days after Mr. Roosevelt personally had appealed to the warring factions to make peace, Green said:

In my opinion the call can be interpreted as an answer to President Roosevelt's suggestion for a termination of labor's internal strife."

party lines, with very few conservative defections. The last two previous foreign affairs debates, one on China and Spain and the other mostly on Czechoslovakia, resulted in confidence votes of 277 to 148 and 275 to 128.

Opposes Conclude

After the vote, commons ad-journed until Nov. 1, as demanded by the government and approved by a vote of 313 to 150.

Regarding a world conference, the prime minister said:

"I do not say that a conference will not have its place in due course but there is no use in calling a conference of the world, including these two totalitarian states, until you are sure they are going to attend with the intention of aiding you in the policy on which you have set your heart."

Chamberlain said the British people did not feel that they should go to war that the Sudeten Germans might not join the Reich.

Gives Answer

"That is my answer to those who said we should have told Germany weeks ago that if Germany crossed the Czech border, we should have been at war," the prime minister declared.

"What we did was twofold," he said. "Firstly, we advised the Czechs repeatedly to come to terms with the Sudeten Germans, and secondly, when Germany mobilized we made no threats, but warned her again that if France were involved, we would be bound to support her."

"I think the government deserves the approval of the house of its conduct of affairs in the recent crisis, which saved Czechoslovakia from destruction and Europe from Armageddon," Chamberlain continued.

Cites Reasons

He said he did not want a general election now for two reasons:

First, he does not want to capitalize on the enthusiasm aroused by the saving off of war.

Second, general elections magnify differences of opinion and "it is possible that we may want great efforts from the nation in the months about to come. If that is so, the smaller our differences, the better."

SPEED PLANS FOR
3-POWER TREATY

LONDON, Oct. 6.—(UP)—Great Britain, France and Italy have reached a broad basis for a three-power agreement aiming at settlement of the Spanish civil war and British-French recognition of the Italian conquest of Ethiopia, informed sources said today.

There may be considerable haggling over details, however, so that announcement of the agreement may be delayed.

Although little has been divulged officially, the most reliable sources indicate that an agreement is likely along the following lines:

6-Point Plan

1. Italian Premier Benito Mussolini will agree to a "token" withdrawal of a certain number of Italian volunteers from the Spanish civil war. Ten thousand is the most frequently mentioned number. That will permit British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain to declare a substantial settlement has been reached.

2. France will agree to keep the French-Spanish frontier closed to war materials for the Spanish Loyalists and probably also will send an agent to the Nationalist regime at Burgos.

Recognize Conquest

3. Both Britain and France will immediately recognize the Italian conquest of Ethiopia.

4. Other provisions of the British-Italian treaty of April 16, which has been suspended by failure to settle the Spanish situation, will come into force immediately.

Seek Armistice

5. When the Spanish war has been sufficiently isolated from general European conflicts by withdrawal of foreign forces from both sides

VOTE ISSUES GIVE OPICS AT MEETING

Dr. George Bemis led the first in the series of adult civic education discussions at the Willard auditorium last night. This series of discussions is designed to furnish expert and unbiased opinion on current problems.

Dr. Bemis, who is associated with the bureau of government research at UCLA, discussed propositions number 1, 3 and 4 on the November ballot. All the measures are the cause of much discussion among people generally.

Seek Identifications
The first proposition, the so-called anti-picketing measure, prompted many comments. The audience wanted to know who is supporting the several propositions and who was furnishing money for the campaigns. In every case questions sought to discover the real objective behind the proposed measures and how their adoption would change present laws. It was necessary to hold one question over till next week. Dr. Bemis asked for more time to answer a question about the power of the legislature to amend or change the provisions of proposition No. 1.

Each Wednesday evening during October will be devoted to discussions of the November ballot. This year Santa Ana is cooperating with Ogden, Utah, and Santa Fe, New Mexico in the interchange of speakers. Dr. John C. Duvall of Syracuse University, is now in Ogden and will come to Santa Ana in November. Dr. Bemis will be in Ogden for December.

DR. AUBIN NAMED BY CHIROPRACTORS

Other officers chosen by the group included Dr. Smith, vice-president; and Dr. J. W. Hancock, secretary and treasurer. Dr. T. J. Kirby, of Los Angeles county gave an illustrated talk on the examination and pathology of the heart as the feature of the program.

Following the meeting Dr. and Mrs. Smith served refreshments to the group.

Five Speeders Among Defendants

Five speeders, pleading guilty before City Judge J. G. Mitchell yesterday, were fined. They and their fines are as follows: Rowland Jones, Altadena, and Lawrence Mitchell, Santa Ana, $8 each; W. G. Felker, Los Angeles, $6 each; John Whisler, Los Angeles, $5 each; and Clara Clooten, Honda, $5. Whisler also was fined $5 for failure to appear in court on schedule. James N. Carson, Santa Ana, first pleaded not guilty to a charge of intoxication and was ordered to appear for court trial but later returned to court, pleaded guilty. He was then fined $10 and a 10-day jail term was suspended on condition Carson refrain from use of liquor for six months.

FLASH: FIRST NEWS OF GRAND JURY—AND IT'S ON BASEBALL!

First news of secret grand jury proceedings in the current special investigation leaked out at the courthouse yesterday.

Robert Jeffrey, grand juror from Irvine, won the world series baseball pool.

Air of Tension!
The grand jury has been delving vigorously into the mysteries of a political pamphlet all week. Yesterday afternoon it assembled for a short half-hour session, and there was an air of tension that communicated itself to the watchers outside the closed doors. Evidently something momentous was about to break.

At last the doors opened and grand jurors filed out, tight-lipped and grim of face. Finally the watchers could stand it no longer. As the last grand juror filed past, one of them quavered:

"What-what, who-o was it?"
There's the feller.
The grand juror turned and snapped: "That feller Jeffrey, he won it. He had No. 4. 'S a wonder he don't own the whole Irvine ranch. An' them Cubs better do something tomorrow."

Then he stalked out after his fellows.

County's Famous Murder Case Is Described

Orange county's most famous murder case, the slaying of J. J. Patterson by Philip Goodwin, Gaines, which has been the theme of several detective magazine articles, again is recounted in the current issue of Startling Detectives magazine, now on the news stands. The writer is Bonnie Wilson, of Glendale, formerly well-known in Santa Ana and Orange as Bonnie Glessner, member of the Santa Ana Blade staff about 1914.

Mrs. Wilson also is author of a story in the October issue of Real Detectives magazine, depicting the case of Burmah Adams White, the Santa Ana girl who became a gangster's moll after marrying Tom White, and now is in Tehachapi prison.

The writer is Bonnie Wilson, of Glendale, formerly well-known in Santa Ana and Orange as Bonnie Glessner, member of the Santa Ana Blade staff about 1914.

Mrs. Wilson also is author of a story in the October issue of Real Detectives magazine, depicting the case of Burmah Adams White, the Santa Ana girl who became a gangster's moll after marrying Tom White, and now is in Tehachapi prison.

Fire Drills

Fire drills any time and all the time have been adding spice and speed to life at Lathrop this week. The students have responded very promptly to the various rules and have made record time in clearing the buildings. Kenny Crumley is fire chief and is assisted by Frank Childs. There are 25 other boys acting as sergeants during all fire drills.

Project Interesting

Members of Miss Hazel Thrasher's home room class have outlined a most interesting project of varied scenes for decorating their room each week. This is not for their own enjoyment only, but for the benefit of all the classes entering the room throughout the day. Miss Thrasher started the project.

Worry of FALSE TEETH

Slipping or Irritating
The annoyance and embarrassment caused by a loose or wobbly denture plate are a constant source of worry. Loose plates often irritate tender gum tissues. Thousands who wear loose false teeth sprinkle their plates with FASTEETH. It gives them a remarkable sense of security and comfort. FASTEETH holds false teeth firmer, and being alkaline (non-acid), checks gum soreness and irritation due to the chafing of a loose plate or to excessive acid mouth. No gummy, goopy, nasty taste or feeling. Get FASTEETH today at any drug store. When mouth tissues change, see your dentist.

ect by a lovely arrangement of mountain weeds and grasses. Romanyn Kern has arranged a sea life scene which is attracting considerable attention this week. De Witt Hupp is working on plans for an Indian life scene to be on display next week.

This project is open to all class suggestions and the leaders of particular interests find class members each week who can help and contribute.

Paul Witmer Leads Club
Mrs. Marguerite Hill and Miss Leona Calkins, sponsors of the Junior Literary club, called a meeting of the club last Wednesday noon during the lunch period. Many of the active members are now in senior high school, and plans were made for the election of several more members. New books were looked over and discussed.

Paul Witmer presided over the meeting and Laurene Todd was elected to serve as secretary. Further plans of the club will be published soon.

Girls' Uniforms Modern
This year the Lathrop girls are having a little more variety in their uniforms. Instead of the traditional middie and skirts, they are permitted by vote of a committee to wear the usual dark blue wool or cotton skirts with white cotton shirts. Shoes any color are permitted but the regulation heels of not more than 2 inches are required.

Mrs. Marguerite Hill, who is sponsoring the girls' organizations, met with a committee of Every Girls' club officers recently and several matters of interest were discussed. Instead of having "civie day" (civilian clothes) every Friday, it was decided to have that privilege every other Friday, and other days which will be announced by bulletin the day before.

P-T. A. Membership
The P-T. A. membership score-board holds first place of interest with faculty and students this week. With keen competition the various home-rooms are watching their respective footballs as they move across the field for a touchdown. Already the membership has far surpassed that of last year. Miss Eunice Adams' first year students hold the lead while Mrs.

Grace Wolff's 8th grade class and Miss Hazel Thrasher's 7th grade section are next in line showing considerable competition.

Further down on the field in close competition are Mrs. Marguerite Hill's 9th grade, Miss Iva Carl's 8th, Miss Henrietta Foster's 9th and Miss Mary Henderson's 7th grade.

The contest closes this week and prizes will be awarded to the highest home room.

Movie Industry Studied
Miss Bernice Hart's second year students in guidance have been making an interesting and valuable study of the motion picture industry. "Movie-Makers" by John Flaherty was the text book guide, and most of the students have made colorful scrapbooks to complete the study. A particularly interesting fact was the origin of the movies which date back some 6000 years in China; also that there are over 15,000 motion picture houses in the United States today with 85,000 fans attending regularly. Choosing a story, the casting department, the sound stage, the shooting of a picture, and sound recording were some of the phases studied.

A Statement of Public Policy

by The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company

The Honorable Wright Patman, representative in Congress of the first district of Texas, has announced that he will introduce in the next Congress a punitive and discriminatory tax bill frankly designed to put chain stores out of business. In the past, Mr. Patman has been very successful in securing enactment of legislation which he has sponsored. He has demonstrated that he is a very able lobbyist and propagandist for his own bills. The management of The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company is therefore faced with the necessity of deciding upon a course of action in relation to this proposed legislation—whether to do nothing and risk the possibility of the passage of the bill and the resulting forced dissolution of this business, or to engage in an active campaign in opposition to the bill.

In arriving at a decision, the interests of several groups of people deserve consideration—the management, the 85,600 employees of the company, the consuming public, the millions of farmers producing the country's food, and labor.

1. The Interests of the Management

The interests of the management can be dismissed as of very little importance.

The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company is managed by George L. Hartford and John A. Hartford under an arrangement made by their father, George Huntington Hartford, the founder of the business. George L. Hartford has been actively engaged in the grocery business for 58 years, working generally six days a week, 52 weeks a year during that entire period. John A. Hartford has been actively engaged in the grocery business for 50 years, working generally six days a week, 52 weeks a year during that period. Both of these men could, of course, retire without personal or financial inconvenience and live very comfortably if chain stores were put out of business. The record of the last calendar year shows that out of any money earned annually from the business, in the case of George L. Hartford, 82 percent is paid to government in taxes; in the case of John A. Hartford, 83 percent is paid to government in taxes. As neither of the brothers has any children, any monies left out of their earnings would accrue to their estates, and in the event of their death, inheritance taxes would probably amount to two-thirds of such accrued earnings, leaving approximately 6 cents on the dollar as a motive for continued personal service.

It is therefore apparent that the interests of management need hardly be taken into consideration in arriving at a decision.

2. The Interests of the Employees

The interests of the employees of the company are, however, a matter of very grave concern.

It is simply a statement of fact to say that the employees of The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company generally throughout the United States receive the highest wages and have the shortest working hours of any workers in the grocery business, whether chain store or individual grocer. Many of them have devoted all of their working lives to the interests of the company.

The management, therefore, has a definite obligation and duty to defend the interests of these 85,600 employees against legislation intended to throw all of them out of work.

3. The Interests of the Consumer

Since this business has been built by the voluntary patronage of millions of American families, we believe that we must give consideration to their interests in this matter. Millions of women know how acute is the present problem of providing food, clothing and shelter for themselves, their husbands and their children out of their present income. When food prices go up it is not a question of paying more for the same food. They do not have the additional money with which to pay. Therefore, they must buy less and eat less. A & P Food Stores last year distributed at retail $881,700,000 worth of food at a net profit of 1%.

This food was sold to the public at prices averaging from eight to ten percent lower than the prices of the average individual grocer. Literally, millions of sales were made at prices twenty-five percent lower than those of the average individual grocer. This saving of eight to twenty-five cents on each dollar is of vital importance to these millions of families. If they were denied the opportunity to buy at these lower prices it would simply mean that in millions of homes they would have to leave meat off the table another day a week, eat less fresh fruits and vegetables, give the growing child one bottle of milk less every week or stint on butter, cheese, poultry, eggs and many other of the most nourishing foods.

In the last 10 years during the greatest period of chain store growth, the number of individual dealers has increased rather than decreased. We maintain that there is nothing wrong when these dealers charge more than we charge. They must charge these prices in order to make a fair profit. The average grocer will, upon request, deliver the groceries to the customer's door and in many cases extends credit to some of his customers. Delivery service costs money. The grocer must put this added cost in the prices to his customers. In the same way the extension of credit involves the expense of bookkeeping, the tying up of capital, and credit losses. There is nothing wrong in the higher mark up of the individual grocer, because he is rendering a service that justifies his prices.

If some customers can afford and voluntarily elect to pay a higher price for groceries and meats because they want credit or because they want delivery to their homes it is quite proper that they should pay an additional price for such service. However, the millions of families in this country whose income is limited and who can have more and better food because they are willing to pay cash and carry home their own purchases, should not be denied this opportunity. Millions of families of limited incomes can only enjoy their present standard of living through these economies and savings. These millions of American families have helped us build a great business because they believe we have rendered them a great service. The company, therefore, has an obligation and a duty to protect the interests of these customers.

4. The Interests of the Farmer

Eight million farm families are engaged in producing the food consumed by the American people. All of the farm homes in America, therefore, comprising one-fourth of all of the population of the United States, have a direct interest in the methods of distribution by which the products of their labor and of the soil are marketed.

Approximately 30% of their production is marketed through the chain food stores; about 70% through individual grocers. Their fruits, vegetables and other foodstuffs are sold through the chain stores at prices averaging 8% to 10% cheaper than the prices at which they are sold by many grocers. If the farmer sells a given product to both at the same price, the individual grocer must charge the public more to take care of his higher costs. Thus 30% of the farmer's products reach the public at low prices and 70% of his products reach the public at higher prices.

If the public cannot consume a given crop of apples, potatoes, berries or any other product, at the prices at which they are offered, these goods do not move from the grocer's shelves; a surplus accumulates and the farmer finds that he either cannot sell the balance of his crop or must sell it at a substantial loss. Only too often a situation arises when it is literally cheaper for the farmer to let his apples or his peaches rot on the ground than to expend the labor costs necessary to pack and ship them. Every farm economist knows that a 10% surplus does not mean 10% less return to the farmer but often more than 20% less return.

In other words, the farmer's problem is to sell his products at the cost of production plus a fair profit and to get them to the public with as few intermediate costs and profits as possible. It is therefore obviously unfair to the farmer to propose legislation which would, at a single blow, wipe out 30% of his distributing machinery—and that 30% the part which maintains the price to the farmer yet reaches the public at low cost because of economical distribution. It would be just as unfair to the farmer to propose putting out of business all of the individual grocers of the country who distribute 70% of his produce. Both chain food stores and individual grocers perform a distributive function vital to the interests of the farmer. If either failed to function the farmer would be faced with tremendous surpluses and heartbreaking losses.

For years the A & P has dealt with the farmers both as producers and consumers. We feel that we have a definite obligation and duty to oppose any legislative attack upon their best interests.

5. The Interests of Labor

Every business in this country has a vital interest in the purchasing power of labor. When labor has high wages and great purchasing power, everyone is prosperous. When labor's purchasing power is curtailed, all business suffers and the American standard of living is impaired. For many years it has been the wise policy of the national government to protect real wages and the purchasing power of the worker's dollar. Combinations or agreements to raise prices, thus reducing real wages, have been declared illegal.

It certainly seems strange that it should now be proposed to destroy a group of businesses for the frankly admitted reason that they furnish the necessities of life to the wage earner and his family at low prices. There are approximately 900,000 workers directly employed in the chain store industry. What course is open to us but to oppose the action of a man who, at a time when more than 11,000,000 wage earners are already out of work and 3,000,000 families on relief, proposes a bill that would add almost another million to the roll of unemployed, wipe out 30% of the distributing machinery of all of the farmers of the United States, and raise the cost of living of the wage earners of the United States.

We believe that our organization has rendered a great service to the American people and that it is as a result of that service that we have prospered. If we consulted our own interest it would be very easy to stop and enjoy whatever leisure we have earned. No one is dependent upon us except our fellow workers. However, after the fullest consideration of all interests, we have arrived at the decision that we would be doing less than our full duty if we failed to oppose, by every fair means, legislation proposed by the Honorable Wright Patman.

As we have said, Mr. Patman is an able politician, an able lobbyist and an able propagandist. In that field he is an expert. We are experts only in the grocery business. We believe the chain stores have a right to present their case to the American people. We will not go into politics, nor will we establish a lobby in Washington for the purpose of attempting to influence the vote of any member of the Congress. We expect only a full and fair opportunity to present the case for the chain stores as a great service organization for the American people.

Since the task we have set before us is one involving the widest dissemination of complete information to all of the American people, and since this is a profession in which we are not expert, we have engaged Carl Byoir & Associates, public relations counsel, to do this work. We realize that our views are seldom news. We know, therefore, that we must be prepared to spend a substantial sum of money in telling our story to all of the American people. We declare now that this money will be spent in the dissemination of information through paid advertising and every medium available to us, and in cooperating in the work or formation of study groups among consumers, farmers and workers, which provide open forums for a discussion of all measures affecting the cost of living.

We believe that when the American people have all of the facts they will make their decision known to their representatives in Congress. As Americans we will be content with that decision.

Trouble with Johnny Joseph's shoulders is a pinched or paralyzed nerve. The Don co-captain hurt one in spring practice. At Pasadena he banged his other shoulder. Several hours after a game the nerve tightens, or something, and impairs Joseph's breathing.

Specialists do not believe the injury is serious, think the star end can be fitted for a protective pad that will enable him to play in the important games. If this does not correct the trouble, however, Joseph may be through with football.

Crack-of-the-week is credited to the Santa Ana Country club caddy who carried Fred Astaire's clubs on the dancing comedian's recent golf round.

Astaire advised Manager Miller by phone he would like to play a few holes here with David Niven, so Miller rushed out to the caddy-house to make sure caddies were available. He got there just in time. The last caddy was just leaving the course.

"Hey," exclaimed Miller. "Stick around. Fred Astaire's on his way here and wants you to caddy for him."

"Is he bringing Ginger Rogers?" asked the unsmiling club-bearer.

GARDEN GROVE OPENS: COUNTY SCHEDULE FULL

U.C.L.A. Frosh at Santa Ana (night). Fullerton J. C. at Pomona (night). Huntington Beach at Santa Ana. Downey at Tustin. Anaheim at Fullerton (night). Orange at Brea-Olinda. San Juan Capistrano at Vista. Newport Harbor at Garden Grove. Laguna Beach at Corona. Valencia at Puente. Exeter at San Bernardino (night).

Blanchard Beatty, who swapped jobs with John Ward at Garden Grove this year in one of several major coaching switches in Orange county, makes his bow as "headman" of the Argonauts tomorrow. Ward took Beatty's place as assistant to Bill Cook at Santa Ana junior college.

Beatty's Garden Grove gridders open the season on their home field against Newport Harbor. The Sailors also have a new coach in the person of Dick Spaulding, who tutored Harbor's Class B club in '37.

"Pair" is the general opinion of Beatty's prospects for his first term in Garden Grove. Ward left him eight lettermen in Captain Bob Ward, halfback; R. Gale, full; Art Berry and Dick Hunt, ends; Russell Kent and LeRoy Littlejohn, tackles; "Bud" McDonald, guard, and Lawrence Littlejohn, center. Other promising players are Okuda, Kobayashi, Paige and Wakeham, backs; Hudson and Freeman, ends; Milton Ward and Ross, guards.

Another Orange county school that "debuts" Friday is little Valencia of Placentia, also working under a new coach, Lincoln Deatrick. Valencia travels to play Puente, member of the Tri-County league.

Tustin's strong squad, 12-0 conqueror of Huntington Beach in its opener last week, has a home contest with Downey of the Tri-County league. Downey is coached by Lee Williams, former Pomona player.

Inter-district competition will be furnished by others than Garden Grove and Newport Harbor. Huntington Beach and Santa Ana collide in the Santa Ana Municipal Bowl. Anaheim meets an old rival in the Fullerton stadium tomorrow night, and Orange invades Brea.

Anaheim and Fullerton look to have two of the better prep elevens in the section so a closer game than last year's 20-0 win by Fullerton is anticipated. Brea is slightly favored over Orange, where material is said to be slightly lower than usual.

Doyle Slashes Yank Odds; Price Now 1-6

NEW YORK—(UP)—The New York Yankees' victory in the first game of the World series caused Broadway Commissioner Jack Doyle to lengthen his prices today.

Doyle made the American league champion 1-6 favorite to take the series compared to his 1 to 2-1 price before play began. He quoted 4-1-2 to 1 against the Cubs taking the series.

Odds on today's game were 1-2 against the Yankees and 8-5 against the Cubs.

BRITTS, CHICKS RENEW 'FEUD'

The boys will be "in thar a feudin'" tonight at the Orange County Athletic club when the Britt brothers meet the Chick brothers in a "team match" that tops the weekly wrestling program.

There has been a feud of long standing between Alvin Britt and Dude Chick which started when Dude Chick won the junior heavyweight title from Britt on a one-fall decision and refused to give Britt a return match.

Britt claimed that he could not have been deprived of the title on a one-fall decision and demanded a return match. It was denied and for two years until Chick lost the title several weeks ago, Britt followed him over the country demanding a title bout.

Alvin Britt will have his team-mate his brother, Floyd Britt, who was recently unmasked at the O. C. A. C. after parading as the Red Devil. Chick will be assisted by his brother Bobby Chick, who taught him to wrestle.

In the three-fall semi-windup Jimmy Lott of Alabama meets Bobby Wagner, twice Olympic wrestling champion of Germany.

ARNETT STARTS AGAINST FROSH

Only one change loomed today in Santa Ana Jaysee lineup as Coach Bill Cook announced a tentative starting team today for the U.C.L.A. Frosh game here tomorrow night.

Lynn Arnett will replace Larry Timken at quarterback. Timken moving over to fullback for Dick Saunders. Rollo Beck and Bill Twist probably will complete the backfield. Ted DeVellis and Jimmie Nunes got the call at the two wing posts. Gil Neberg and Cy Leivermann have the inside track at tackle. Pete Kotlar and Dale Mickelwalte, guards, and Jack Lentz, center.

In the Dons' workout yesterday, Coach Cook experimented with a backfield composed of Arnett at fullback, Larry Monroy, quarter; Beck and Bill Twist, halfbacks. The Don mentor said he will give these four a chance to work as a unit during the U.C.L.A. game.

Co-Captain Johnny Joseph, stellar end, was declared definitely out of action tomorrow night following a check-up by Don medics.

Crossetti's Fielding Marks First Game

CHICAGO—The Yankees today had a new "grande bambino".... little spindly-legged Frankie Crossetti from Fisherman's wharf, San Francisco.

After all these years, in which Yankee might proved right and the home run was the answer to all their problems, along came dark-eyed Crossetti and in one afternoon revealed another side of the great Yankee machine.

With three dazzling plays, executed all the way from third to territory as wide a margin of covered in one world series game—Crossetti stole the thunder from the Lanks' Big Berthas. His sure hands, keen eyes, nimble feet and dead arm choked off the Cubs' most dangerous threats in the opening world series game and enabled the Yanks to win, 3-1.

In the second inning Crossetti halted the first Cub threat when he raced near the foul line behind third base and recovered a hit off Rolfe's glove and threw Stanley Hack out at home plate.

"That was one of the smartest plays I've seen in the world series in a long time," said Lew Fossa, former White Sox manager. "Crossetti recovered the ball running away from the plate. Then he stopped fully and recovered his balance while Hack was speed-

SEATTLE CLUB TO TRAIN IN ANAHEIM PARK

Orange county will have TWO Pacific Coast league baseball clubs in training next spring, Seattle's Rainiers today having officially agreed to condition at Anaheim's new La Palma park. Portland, it is understood, will return to Fullerton for the third time.

John Morgan, secretary of Anaheim's chamber of commerce, received a telegram from Bill Mulligan, business manager of the Rainiers, confirming arrangements made by telegram following a personal visit last week by Mulligan.

Mulligan originally submitted a verbal proposition which included a substantial guarantee by the city or chamber of commerce, in return for receipts of the opening game, which Mulligan promised would be with a major league club. Neither the city nor chamber considered the proposition and in turn submitted one to provide the park free, and to co-operate in every possible way with the Seattle club which would arrange its own schedule of practice games and take all receipts.

This is the proposition Mulligan officially accepted by wire. Contacts will be in the mail within the next few days, Mulligan's wire stated.

According to Superintendent Rudy Boyesen and Engineer Ewald Lemke, La Palma park will be ready for occupancy by Feb. 1. Grass is growing nicely now on the

Dean Has Big Head—But So's His Heart

BY HENRY McLEMORE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

CHICAGO—There was a time when the man had everything. His fast ball all but spit flame as it zinged up to the plate.

His curve was sharper than a serpent's tooth and it broke with the suddenness of dawn. His change of pace was as baffling as a stag of magicians, and his slow ball was just as floating, teasing blob of trademarks and seams.

He could go to it, too. For 9 innings or 19. He was as hard and as enduring as the Arkansas hills from which he came. In his way, which was a baseball way, he was a genius.

But that was once upon a time. "Dizzy" Dean who'll walk out to the firing line against the Yankees in the second game of the world series today is just a hollow (or should I spell it "holter") shell of the Dean of 1934. All that remains of the Dean of that year is his big head and big heart.

Time's erosion hasn't lessened the size of these two items. "Dizzy" could brag and boast in sixteen languages even when he was a bushy, coming along, and today finds his gift of self appreciation undiminished.

And no one ever questioned the dimensions of his heart. There never was a time when the Dizzy one wouldn't fight

If "Dizzy" fails, and the Yanks head back to Broadway with a 2 to 0 lead, the series is a mortal cinch to end in the East, probably in four games. And why shouldn't it? You can run through all the sports you know, from hurling the faber to cock fighting, and class always tells. And the Yanks have class. They can be brutal and knock the cover off the ball. Or, as yesterday's opener proved, they can rely on skill and finesse when the bats happen to have an off day. And it requires no mental acrobatics to realize that when a team has better pitching, better hitting, and better fielding, it is very likely to win.

'GOOFY' GOMEZ GOES AGAINST 'DIZZY' DEAN

By HARRY FERGUSON (United Press Sports Editor)

CHICAGO—Look for almost anything to happen today, for fate has decreed that a guy named Dizzy and another one called Goofy—as fine a pair of screwballs as ever jawed at an umpire—shall meet on the pitching mound in the second game of your 1938 world series.

For the Chicago Cubs—the one and only Dizzy Dean, the $185,000 beauty, the man with the dead arm who is trying to get by on control and cunning now that the zip has gone from his fast one—

For the New York Yankees—Lefty "Goofy" Gomez, the fireball flinger from Broadway, the skinny southpaw who has started five world series games and never gone to the lockers a loser.

The Cubs, outpitched, outthut and outfielded in yesterday's opener, go into today's game desperately needing a victory lest this whole business end abruptly when twilight closes in on the fourth game in New York. Manager "Gabby" Hartnett flung his best pitcher, "Big Bill Lee, against the Yankees yesterday and when the last out was made the Cubs were on the short end of a 3 to 1 score. What the good citizens of Chicago want to know is if Lee can't beat the Yankees, who can?

Everybody, including the Cubs, knows what Gomez can do. Sure, he lives up to his nickname of Goofy by doing things like pausing in the middle of a ball game to watch an airplane fly over the park. But he also is just about the best money pitcher in baseball whose fast one gets faster when the enemy puts his toe on the bases and when every pitch is weighted down with cash.

But who knows, save Jerome Herman Dean himself, what Dizzy can do now that muscle and nerve in his long right arm have turned traitor and left him a cripple in what could be the greatest hour of his life? Who knows what Dizzy is thinking deep back in his mind? Who knows whether his confidence has disappeared with his speed? Well, Hartnett thinks he knows. That is why the Cubs' manager, rolling his words out around a fat cigar, sat in the clubhouse after yesterday's game and said "Diz, you go tomorrow."

Diz just nodded and kept on knotting his tie. So this is the day you have been waiting for, the day when Old Diz sends his "nothing ball," big as a balloon and slow as cold sorghum, up there to the plate where the most murderous hitters in baseball will be waiting for it.

This is the day when Phil Wrigley, owner of the Cubs, finds out whether he threw his money to the winds when he gave the St. Louis Cardinals $185,000 and so-called pretty fair ball players for Old Diz.

The Yankees have a fine contempt for Old Diz' ability to stop them and enough people share that opinion to bring about lots of even money bets that he won't be in there today after the fifth inning.

But Hartnett is playing his own hunches. He doesn't have to start Dean, for he has a younger, fresher man, Clay Bryant, ready to go. But Hartnett is an Irishman to ride his hunches hard and this morning he has one that Old Diz will jam the Yankees' contemptuous words down their throats.

He weighs 175, is 19 years old and wears jersey No. 33. Most of last year, Timken played quarter. He's now the Dons' first string fullback.

'BISCUIT RACES' ADMIRAL NOV. 1

NEW YORK—(UP)—Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, vice-president of the Maryland Jockey club, announced plans today that seemed sure to bring about a match race between War Admiral and Sea-biscuit at Pimlico track Nov. 1, or in event of rain Nov. 3.

Because of the many unsuccessful attempts, Vanderbilt asked Owners Sam Riddle and Charles S. Howard to post forfeits of $5000 each to which the jockey club would add $10,000.

Vanderbilt met the owners separately yesterday, and Howard, who owns Seabiscuit, immediately wrote out a check for $5000. Riddle boarded a train for his Pennsylvania farm, saying he would mail Vanderbilt his check.

HAMAKER OUT: BARNES OPENS AT RIGHT HALF

Found: A Santa Ana team favored to beat Huntington Beach. . . . Santa Ana seldom beats Huntington Beach in softball but tomorrow, at the Municipal Bowl, the Saints' high school gridmen are expected to turn in their first victory of the season at Huntington Beach's expense.

Kick-off time is 3 p. m.

Al Reboin, one of the greatest backs ever produced by Santa Ana, brings the Huntington Beach outfit here. This is his third season as coach of the Oilers. His material is better than average but lacks a climax-running back so it is problematical how far the club will go. Nevertheless, Reboin has a sturdy defensive team, built around nine lettermen and a couple of transfers, so a tight game is anticipated. Last year the Saints were hard pressed to shade Huntington Beach, 13-7, and Reboin says he has a better team now than then.

Whoever wins, it will be a maiden victory. The Saints lost their first two starts to Long Beach schools. Wilson and Poly, by 7-0 and 13-0 scores. Tustin's formidable crew spoiled Huntington Beach's coming-out party, 12-0. Earlier last week, Tustin outplayed the Saints in an informal scrimmage so there may be little to choose between Saints and Oilers.

Santa Ana will have to go without its captain and best back, Gene Hamaker, who is indefinitely lost because of a wrenched knee. It is now doubtful if Hamaker even can start against Pomona in next week's league opener. That will depend on how his leg holds up under a special brace in practice next week. Coach Bill Foote said he wasn't going to take any chances on Hamaker in tomorrow's scuffle.

Ralph Barnes has been shifted from end to right half, Wayne Piper working at Hamaker's half job. George Higashi, quarter, and Bobbie Hamaker, full, round out the starting backfield. Foote is not certain about his ends but Barney Robinson will work at one of the terminals with either Bob Pollard or Bill Wray on the other. Bob Webb and "Chuck" Prude, tackles; Ray Mercado and Don Dunning, guards, and Cliff Whitford, center, are certain starters in the line.

Coach Reboin is starting Louis Gifford and Dave Rohrig, ends; Captain Walter Wolfe and Roy Ormsby, veteran tackles; Bob Tucker and Lor Johnson, guards; Norman Elliott, center; Hal Pinkham, quarter; Dale Shear and Bob Swigart, halfbacks, and Bobby Gifford, fullback.

The Oilers average about 160 pounds and will be outweighed by the Saints, who come in around 165 despite Hamaker's absence.

LAGUNA TO ADOPT ANTI-HANDBILL MEASURE

FINAL ACTION
ON OCTOBER 19

LAGUNA BEACH, Oct. 6.—The city council last night passed to second reading an anti-handbill ordinance, by terms of which throwaways and similar gratis reading matter will be forbidden delivery in Laguna Beach, except under restrictions amounting to virtual prohibition.

Conflicting Data
City Attorney Milburn G. Harvey, who drafted the pending measure, which will be given final action a fortnight hence, stated in reply to Councilman Jester that much conflicting data was contained in the more than 50 ordinances he had studied. The measure will be given third reading on October 19.

Another ordinance drafted and given second reading provides for the outlawing of street parking of automobiles on any public street in Laguna Beach between 2 and 5 o'clock in the early morning hours. Presented by Jester, who stated that the ordinance was asked by Police Chief Gene B. Woods, the proposal to ban parking was attacked by several citizens in the audience, including Mrs. Alice M. Padgett.

Seeks Public Opinion
Councilman Jester, defending the mooted ordinance, stated that he was desirous of obtaining public reaction to the proposal, stressing his personal attitude that it wasn't necessary to adopt the ordinance. If it was unwanted by the residents, this ordinance, also, will be acted upon October 19. Meanwhile, public repercussions, if any, for and against the parking ban will be studied by the council.

Final action on the American Legion request for revamping of abolition of the existing recreation commission, was promised by council, following a statement by Councilman Hugh K. Peabody that a report on the situation would be presented at next meeting.

A heated and protracted discussion was precipitated by an announcement made by Dr. Harvey Thorneburg of the citizens' committee in charge of re-paving of the district bounded by Temple Hills, Thalia, Gleneyre and adjacent streets, for which property owners have subscribed about $20,000 of personal funds. Dr. Thorneburg stated that actual work would commence next Monday, and was informed by Councilman Bainbridge that preliminary survey and stake-planting work was already under way on Valley drive.

The upshot of the parley was that at a special adjourned meeting to be held on October 14, all details will be cleared up, including the identity of the engine, who is to superintend the work, which is being done at private expense, but must conform with city ordinances and pass official street inspection.

OPEN BOOSTER CELEBRATION
IN BUENA PARK ON FRIDAY

BUENA PARK, Oct. 6.—Plans have been completed by the various committees under the general chairmanship of Rudy Grund for the sixth annual booster celebration to be held here Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The celebration will start Friday at 2 p. m. when a soap box derby will be held with Harold Minor in charge, followed by field events under the direction of Relas Perry at the Grand Avenue school and sponsored by the Buena Park Kiwanis club.

Friday evening is to be Orange county night. All county candidates on the November ballot have been invited to attend and will be introduced at the carnival grounds between Commonwealth avenue and Fifth street, at 8 o'clock.

Parade on Saturday
The grand parade will be held Saturday at 1 p. m. Preston Owens is general chairman of this event. There will be industrial, civic and organization floats, with entries from Huntington Beach, Anaheim and Fullerton and riding clubs from Santa Ana and Long Beach. The line of march will commence at Western avenue and Tenth streets, move north on Grand avenue as far as Artesia boulevard, turning west to Klingman avenue and south to Fifth street to disband. Bands from Fullerton high and Whittier Boys' school will furnish the music for the parade.

A horse show will be held immediately after the parade at the carnival grounds, with Carl Snyder in charge. A barbecue sponsored by the Kiwanis club with Leon Wilsey in charge, assisted by Arch Raitt will be served at the carnival grounds during and after the horse show.

Plan Amateur Show
Saturday evening at 8 o'clock an amateur program will be held with only Buena Park residents eligible to enter. Henry Legari is chairman and entrants are requested to get in touch with him at his home 67 West Eleventh street.

Two soft ball games between the local girls' teams, a ball game between the married and single men, a pie eating contest and catching a greased pig will take place Sunday at the Grand avenue school grounds.

Escaped Bandit
Captured

Godwin had been awaiting trial on charge of first degree burglary a capital offense in this state. After escaping jail Monday, Godwin and his companion commandeered a taxicab and forced the driver to take them to High Point, where they left him bound and gagged.

Killed Worker
In a series of encounters at High Point, in which the youths tried to obtain automobiles or money Monday night, Donald Moss, a textile worker, was shot and killed. Police have charged Godwin with the killing.

Meanwhile at Lexington, muscular, 175 pound Lula Belle, the jailer's daughter, decided today that she didn't want to serve 60 days in jail as penance for having been victimized by her first boy friend. Her father, Jailer Tom Kimmel, filed a $200 bond which permits her to go free until a higher court passes on the justice of her sentence for having freed James Godwin, 19, and Bill Wilson, 21, from her father's jail because she was in love with Godwin.

Pleads Guilty
Lula Belle pleaded guilty when arraigned in county court last night. She sobbed and her parents sobbed during the testimony, but none of them testified. The court sentenced her to 60 days in jail for having freed Godwin and three months for having freed Wilson. The second sentence was suspended.

Her attorney reasoned that the powerful Lula Belle, who was her father's helper, handles women prisoners "like sacks of potatoes," had acted as any woman would have acted when subjected to massing. Though Lula Belle is 22, her power had warned boy friends off until Godwin, incarcerated for banditry, convinced her that he loved her, that he had religion, and that he would be a changed man if only she gave him the chance by turning him loose.

Lula Belle gave him the key to his cell and he freed himself and Wilson. That was Monday afternoon. Since then they have killed one man and kidnapped another.

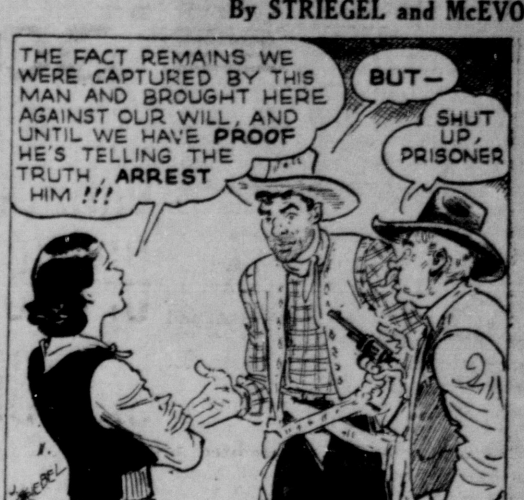

Townsend Talk
Set For Friday

Everything was in readiness today for the appearance of George Yose, authorized speaker from the Townsend national headquarters at Roosevelt school, East First street, near Orange avenue, at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow.

This was the announcement today of Israel Santee, president of club No. 1, which is sponsoring the occasion. The Hurd-Lentz orchestra will furnish music for the occasion. J. H. Walsh, first vice chairman of the Townsend party central committee, will be master of ceremonies. "An evening of great interest is anticipated," Walsh said, "since the president of club No. 10 decided to permit club No. 1 to sponsor the session. The public is invited."

BOY, 4, STARTS FIRE
Four-year-old Herman Velardez, of 305 South Daisy street, sent the fire department on a fast run to the Velardez home shortly before noon today, according to reports of officials, because he liked to play with matches. He set a small fire in the back yard which did not damage resulted, officials said.

SOCIAL GROUPS
TO GIVE DANCE

Three national, non-academic social fraternities and three similar sororities, of Santa Ana, will hold a dance party at the Casino in San Clemente Saturday at 9 p. m. Cecil Starnes, past Vice Grand Master of Alpha Sigma Lambda fraternity, 319 East Pomona street, announced today.

The announcement followed a meeting of Alpha Sigma Lambda members at their fraternity house on North Flower street, last night.

Hundreds to Attend
More than 500 couples plan to attend the dance at which Les Parker and his band will provide the music. The inter-fraternity and sorority dance will bring together members of Alpha Sigma Lambda, Phi Sigma and Delta Sigma fraternities and Sigma Tau Psi, Delta Chi and Kappa Delta Phi sororities.

Starnes also announced plans have been made by his fraternity for a tea and dance on the afternoon of November 13. Five hundred tickets already have been sold for Saturday's dance.

PLANS FOR MOOSE
DANCE COMPLETED

Plans for a dance to be held by members of Santa Ana Moose lodge on November 2 at the lodge rooms, 306-1-2 East Fourth street, were completed last night, according to a report made by the committee in charge at the regular meeting of the organization.

Fred Miller, George Miles, and Elton Pace are in charge of arrangements for the dance. Dictator Ernest Dunn today announced that George Mann had been initiated into membership, and Phillip Newman had been reinstated.

Three visitations to Southern California lodges are planned for the local group. Among those who will participate in the inter club relations are: Dunn, Secretary M. F. Myers, R. M. Conkey, Edward Jiles, W. C. Wilson, Thomas Finney, and Elton Pace. A representative group will visit the Huntington Park lodge tomorrow evening, Los Angeles Lodge 134, Monday, and Long Beach, Tuesday.

ATKINSON SUIT IS TAKEN OFF DOCKET

By stipulation between counsel for plaintiff and defendant, the suit brought by Walter Atkinson against the Orange County Publishing company, to contest the election of Dan O'Neil as a director of the company, was today marked off the calendar of superior court.

The step brought speculation whether Atkinson was abandoning the contest or planned to make a fresh start. His attorney, Martell E. Thompson, of Orange, recently withdrew from the case, and Attorney Belmore S. Goulden, of Los Angeles, signed today's stipulation to drop the case from the court calendar. Attorney S. B. Kaufman, of Anaheim, signed for the publishing company.

Atkinson filed the election contest after O'Neil defeated him for a seat on the board of directors.

BANCROFT HITS PENSION PLAN

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 6.—The "Downey 30-warrants-every-thursday" pension plan not only will plunge the state into bankruptcy, but will also set up a state dictatorship which will ruin the present democratic form of government.

Speaks Before Realtors
That was the charge made here today by Philip Bancroft, candidate for United States senate, who spoke before the convention of the California Real Estate association.

Bancroft brought thunderous applause from several hundred realtors when he assailed the so-called "Downey Ham and Eggs" pension plan.

"The plan has been branded as fantastic and unworkable by almost everyone from President Roosevelt down," Bancroft said. "But there is one phase of it which has not been stressed.

"Under the plan an administrator with absolute dictatorial powers would be created. This administrator would be answerable to no one—not to the government, to the courts, or to the people.

$700,000 to Spend
"He would have $700,000 to spend—and this $700,000 would be in real money, not in worthless warrants issued under the act.

"He would have the power of calling special elections, solely on his own responsibility. He would have the power to appoint thousands of assistants all over the state, building up a political machine which would be ruinous. "And the act is so devised that if it goes through, the governor is compelled to appoint one of the three promoters of the plan to this administrative job."

PAY ASSEMBLY IS HELD AT SCHOOL

The first pay assembly of the year for the high school student body was held this week. Principal Lynn H. Crawford, introduced Doctor Luther H. S. Gable, who is an authority on radium, and who is the lone survivor of a group of six men who first refined radium commercially. Dr. Luther had many experiences to relate, and he talked on the healing and curative powers of the precious substance. He told of the difficult extraction process by which the mineral is obtained, and recounted the many occurrences and incidents in the research laboratory.

Dr. Gable recommended to the students this field as a vocation, because, he explained, many young men are needed to carry on the work, which, he believes, will open entirely new fields to the scientist.

SCHOOL TAKES PART IN SAFETY CONTEST

In conjunction with the National Safety Week of October 2 to 8, the City Traffic Commission, with the approval of Mayor Fred C. Rowland and the City Council, has instituted a Safety contest in the city school system.

There are three divisions in the contest, including the elementary, junior high school and high school systems. A $10 prize will be offered in each of these schools to the winner of an oral and a written essay on the general subject of safety.

See Wide Influence

The Commission has decided that this will stimulate the idea of safe driving in the students minds and will indirectly bring influence into many homes.

Santa Ana, it has been said, is far behind many other cities investigating safe driving and since this is one of the biggest problems before the citizens of this community, the Commission has decided this will be the best way to arouse interest in the minds of the citizens.

Local citizens responsible for this citywide drive are: Chairman, Elmer Heldt, Frank Henderson, O. Scott McFarland, Dr. Roy Horton, V. L. Motry and W. B. Hunton.

PARTY PLANNED TO WELCOME TEACHERS

Following the reception, Dr. Earl Eneyart Harper of the University of Chicago will be presented as the first institute speaker of the year.

Jimmie Fidler in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 6.—Conway Tearle—actor, aged 50—died the other day in a Los Angeles hospital. Doctors said his death was caused by heart trouble—but I'm wondering if "heart-break" wouldn't have been a more accurate diagnosis.

As a young stage star, the heir of one of the world's most famous theatrical families, he was an idol in both England and America. Movies were born and he was among the first of the footlight Greats to step before the cameras. He reigned like a king here for nearly fifteen years, turning in best performance after best performance in hit picture after hit picture until suddenly, about ten years ago, talkies were born. Hollywood's producers, in the state of panic with which they usually greet innovations, started importing Broadway celebrities by the train load. But Conway Tearle—a veteran of the stage—couldn't get a job. He was out of work for three years, until, in desperation, he returned to the New York stage, played a bit in a hit production and forced himself into the edge of the limelight again. Even so, Hollywood refused to remember and Conway, who by ability was entitled to play the best character roles pictures could offer, has spent the last five years playing bits in quickies. He was in the hospital, dying, for weeks and Hollywood didn't even know it.

A strange business this—which rewards its greatest stars by such forgetfulness. And a barbed indictment of our heartlessness that Conway Tearle, yesterday an idol, should die today an embittered, forgotten man.

CUFF NOTES: Paramount has blue-penciled plans for that Benny Goodman swing special—surveys indicate the jitterbug fad is dying out. . . . George Murphy and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer have called off their feud—he'll put opposite Eleanor Powell in "Honolulu" . . . Best news of the week: Alice Brady has recovered from that long illness sufficiently to sign for a new screen role. . . . If his studio okays the deal, Paul Muni will probably return to Broadway this winter to star in Tolstoy's "War and Peace" . . . Is Doug Corrigan

OPEN DRIVE TO HELP MEASURE

Actively supported by prominent men and women of Orange county who wish to see the end of disastrous industrial warfare in this state, members of a county-wide committee representing the California Committee for Peace in Employment relations met Wednesday night in Anaheim to launch an educational campaign in support of Initiative Proposition No. 1.

On November Ballot Proposition No. 1, which will appear on the state ballot on November 8, is designed to prevent registration of employees by any agency, thereby opening the doors for true collective bargaining.

Members of the county-wide committee announced today include H. O. Easton, Placentia, as chairman; William Schumacher, Anaheim; William J. Tway, Santa Ana; H. M. Bergen, Brea-La Habra; C. M. Peterson, Laguna Beach; Vernon Hell, Huntington Beach; C. H. Robinson, Orange; Charles Cogan, Irvine; Clarence Brown, Capistrano; Walter Spicer, Newport Beach; J. G. Allen, Garden Grove, and B. W. Robinson, Fullerton.

Provisions Outlined

In outlining provisions of the statute, Chairman Easton pointed out that the measure is not directed against unions or labor, but against the abuse of power. The measure will protect the consumer, who in the final analysis, pays the bill for the millions of dollars lost in wages, business and damaged commodities each year caused by industrial warfare, he said.

Loitering By Youths At School To Be Abolished

Use of Franklin school grounds, 1512 West Fourth, by a host of Mexican students on Saturday afternoon and Sunday, and loitering by youths out of school around the building after school hours is being frowned upon by Superintendent Frank A. Henderson and police today.

The superintendent asked that police stop the practices. The students have been in the habit of climbing the diagonals and otherwise using the grounds as a Saturday-Sunday play spot. Henderson particularly asked that the older boys be prohibited from loitering about the grounds, waiting for the older girls in school to leave their classrooms. The police agreed to take necessary action.

HILARITY TO BE WATCHWORD FOR ANNUAL ANAHEIM EVENT

Hilarity will be the watchword for Anaheim's one-day Halloween celebration to be held October 28. For the first time in several years the entire program of festivities will be crowded into one day, thus assuring Anaheim residents and visitors of continuous activity from early in the morning until late in the evening.

Highlights of the fifteenth annual event will be the community breakfast, kangaroo court, horse show, parade, park entertainment and street dance.

Plan Costume Ball

A prelude to the celebration will be held at the Anaheim Elks clubhouse Thursday evening when the annual costume ball will be held. Friday's program opens with a community breakfast on Sycamore street, next to the Elks clubhouse, at 7 o'clock. This will also be a costume affair.

Immediately following the breakfast the kangaroo court will be started, with a cordon of "police" rounding up every person not in costume.

Horse Show Slated
At 1 o'clock the outstanding horse show will start in the city park. Many of the state's most notable horses will be on exhibition during the afternoon.

The parade will be started promptly at 7 o'clock and will include nearly 200 floats, decorated cars and musical organizations, in addition to marching and riding units. This spectacular display will be followed by the street dance and entertainment at the city park.

John Hayes, assistant county school superintendent, will be in charge of the program.

LICENSE PLATE LOSS EXPLAINED

If you should lose your license plates from your car, you must accept any number the state department of motor vehicle department sees fit to give you. Capt. H. C. Meehan, head of the California highway patrol in the county, said today in answer to a query. He submitted answers to a series of questions submitted by interested motorists.

"Recently I lost both of my license plates," said a motorist. "I have had the same number for several years. Now the department advises me that I will have to accept a different numbered set of plates. Why can't I have duplicate plates made?"

Strong Proof Required

The captain's reply states: "The department no longer issues duplicate pairs of plates for passenger cars for a number of very excellent reasons. When plates are lost or stolen now, it is necessary to bring in all certificates, the remaining plate, if any, and receive a new set of different numbers. Often motorists reported plates lost or stolen and when they recovered them, they failed to notify us. Thus they were being stopped frequently by alert officers. The law prohibits your making license plates for such use as you indicate."

To other questions, the captain answered: "A trailer coach speed limit is 45 miles per hour and all fines collected by the courts as traffic fines are paid into the fund for street and road improvement in the cities or counties, as the case may be, where the offense was committed."

October Bride-elect Is Inspiration For Shower

Miss Mary Belle Arnold, daughter of Mrs. Annie L. Arnold, 405 South Birch street, whose marriage to Lester Selby, son of Mrs. Charles Selby, 816 Riverine avenue, will take place this month, was incentive for a shower last night in the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Arnold, 726 South Birch street.

Miss Milton Arnold and Mrs. Frank Johnson, poling in giving the affair, decorated the home in orchid and yellow. Effective indeed were the graceful catails tied with fluffy bows of orchid ribbons. Orchid and yellow "mums" furthered the chosen motif.

While some of the guests embroidered guest towels for the bride-to-be, others played cards. Prizes went to Mrs. Annie Arnold and Mrs. Ada Belle Cope.

Miscellaneous shower packages for Miss Arnold were placed on a table centered with a miniature bride party on a raised platform. Orchid and yellow nuptials appointed tables at which heart-centered ice cream roll was served with cakes frosted in yellow. Mrs. Annie Arnold and Mrs. Marian Paul assisted the hostesses.

Invited to the affair were the honoree, Miss Arnold and her groom-elect's mother, Mrs. Selby, mother, Mrs. Arnold; the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Cope, Maude and Mesdames Mabel Read, Ada Harbour, Mildred Ewert, Charles Johnson, J. ## General Church Societies Launch October Programs

With autumn and winter programs now well established among the church women of the city's various denominations, the majority of these groups held general meetings this week. Other section and specialized meetings will occur from time to time during October.

ASSOCIATED WOMEN

One of the most interesting days in their church calendar was shared yesterday by Associated Women of First M. E. church, who had a successful day of vital entertainment and study features from 10 a. m. until late afternoon.

Home Missionary society under presidency of Mrs. Henry Guthrie, introduced as guest speaker, Mrs. Eva C. Wheeler, state W. C. T. U. president. Her fine talk stressed the importance of the church in the establishment and raising of social and moral standards.

Associated Women under Mrs. Clarence Bond's presidency, had church of the next interval, during which Mrs. C. E. Holman, wife of the pastor, introduced a series of talks on extension of world services to the Methodist church, and which she will continue throughout the year. Mrs. S. E. Lane led in devotional just before the friendly mid-day luncheon hour.

Mrs. C. E. Lawrence presided over the Foreign Missionary society interval opening the afternoon program. Mrs. W. J. Tway reported on the recent meeting of county officers in Christ Church-by-the-Sea, Newport, at which many Santa Ana women were on program. Mrs. Linwood then awarded prizes in the reading contest to Mrs. Beatrice Hoessler and Mrs. John Paxton.

To close the afternoon, Miss Mary Lamb unlocked with the "Key of Understanding of India," a beautiful Gothic door, revealing a setting of India. Rich draperies swayed against the wall, and small brass lamps were ready to be lighted by members in the ceremony of Di Wall, the festival of lights. This was to be the accompaniment of "Sons of India" with Miss Jack Snow as the piano.

Miss Lamb introduced Mrs. Duane Smith, who in the character of Mrs. Gertrude L. Warner, missionary for many years at Bombay, related rich experiences of those years of service. Another fine impersonation followed by Mrs. George Agne in the role of historian, who described India from the days of aborigines through successive religious eras to the present.

WOMEN'S UNION

Motoring to San Clemente, members of Congregational Women's Union yesterday were privileged to hold their covered dish luncheon in the Social clubhouse, through the courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Nedermeyer.

The afternoon session was quite as enjoyable as the luncheon, with the beautiful surroundings offering their inspiration. Mrs. Bert Miles conducted the business interval, after which Mrs. Benjamin Livesey introduced the musical program she had planned. To this program, Mrs. Walter Spicer contributed a group of violin numbers, with Mrs. M. E. Le Sourd at the piano. Mrs. Livesey had arranged several song numbers, and again Mrs. Le Sourd was a gifted accompanist. One of the lovely songs had a violin obbligato played by Mrs. Spicer.

Sixty-five or more members of the Union and their friends shared the happy day.

UNITED PRESBYTERIAN

Mrs. A. A. Knipe and Mrs. O. S. Johnston, who took interesting trips this summer, told of their travels during a meeting of United Presbyterian Women's Missionary society yesterday afternoon in the church parlors.

Other events of the day were preceded by a morning meeting of the Ladies' Aid society. A session of quilting was followed by noon day luncheon, with Miss Myra Gibson and Mesdames Carrie Sherrill, Benjamin Heemstra and L. R. Music as hostesses. Decorations in orange and black suggested the approach of Halloween.

The president, Mrs. Cora Torrens opened the 1:30 o'clock business meeting, with Mrs. W. S. Kennedy in charge of devotionals. Mrs. Knipe, member of Junior college faculty, talked on her summer tour of Europe, telling especially of conditions in Czechoslovakia. Mrs. Johnston described her travels to Australia and New Zealand, displaying card and other souvenirs.

The Rev. A. E. Kelly, pastor of the church, gave a short talk.

FIRST BAPTIST

Mrs. Lulu Shepherd of Los Angeles, chairman of clivics for Federated Church Women of Southern California, was speaker Wednesday afternoon at a meeting of First Baptist Women's society in the church.

Although the speaker experienced difficulties in filling her engagement, since the car in which she was riding to Santa Ana was struck by a drunken driver, she was on hand to give her scheduled address. "Christian Citizenship" was the theme of her informative talk.

Mrs. Shepherd mentioned as the two prime factors in the progress of civic righteousness today, the education of children, and the wise use of the ballot by Christian women.

The program came as a feature of the meeting which followed a morning session devoted to the making of articles to be sent to the denomination's orphanage at Kodiak, Alaska. Luncheon was served at noon by Mesdames James P. B. Richards, M. E. Brown, William R. Rohrbaugh, F. E. Moore and Rola R. Hays. They used autumn flowers and ferns in decorating.

Mrs. Charles G. Nalle led in the singing of patriotic songs, concluding with a vocal solo, "The Re-cessional." Miss Gracia Fredrick gave devotionals and Mrs. Albert

Hill, program chairman, took charge of the remainder of the meeting.

Following Miss Shepherd's talk was a business meeting in charge of the president, Mrs. Russell Crouse.

KINGDOM BUILDERS

Taking advantage of the fine autumn weather, Kingdom Builders of Spurgeon Memorial M. E. church gathered with their families, for an enjoyable picnic supper in Irvine park, for their latest meeting. Mrs. Jasper Farney and Mrs. Carl DuRall made the coffee to be served with the contents of well-filled picnic baskets.

Children of the party had a gala time with the playgrounds equipment, and everyone enjoyed the matchless setting of the park. In the group were Mr. and Mrs. Nat. Travis, Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Farney and sons, Howard and Melton; Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Bakeland and son Freddie; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Chumli and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fisher, Mr. Arthur Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Everett and son Elwayne; Mr. and Mrs. Carl DuRall and daughter Eleanor, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Elliott and children, Barbara and Buddy; Mrs. Claude Neer and children, Carol Ann and Dean, and Norman Herzog and children, Wayne, Eleanor and Norma Lee.

M. E. QUESTERS

India as study theme for Tuesday night's meeting of First M. E. Questers, the young girls' missionary group, the church aroused much interest during the study hour over which Miss Olive Schweitzer presided.

Miss Phyllis Wetherell was a special guest, and brought an art map of India of her own workmanship. As she displayed the map, she talked on the various important places and areas portrayed. One of the members, Miss Mary Olive Tozier, had fashioned a relief map of the country also, and this heightened interest in the study.

Following their program, members joined the Young People's Institute for the supper hour.

Present were Mrs. R. L. Matthews, sponsor, Miss Phyllis Wetherell, guest speaker, and the Misses Olive Schweitzer, Mary Olive Tozier, Ruth Townsend, Lillian Mason, Joy Townsend, Mary Klenz, JoAnna Russell, Darlene Mansell, Kearney Luers, Marjorie Randall, Ruth Ames, Frances Head, Mettie Mae Barnes, Irene Williams, Peggy Ames, Mijel Michel, Dorothy Edwards and Maxine Burnett.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY GROUP

Inviting two Orange friends, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Alden, in to spend the evening, Mrs. Jay C. Hamill, 1901 North Main street, last night gave pleasant observance to the birthday anniversary of Mr. Hamill.

Music and lively chat of the evening hours had a climax with the serving of refreshments, when Marilyn, little daughter of the home, entered singing "Happy Birthday to You," and placed a big birthday cake, with appropriate inscription, before the celebrant. Miss Maurine Hamill then had Marilyn's assistance in serving refreshments.

Siegel-Coleman Rites Occur Today in Anaheim

Occurring at 9 o'clock this morning in Anaheim St. Boniface Catholic church, the marriage of Miss Hazel Claire Coleman and Kenneth E. Siegel, son of Mrs. Katherine Siegel of Costa Mesa is of special interest in this community.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Coleman of Leigh, Neb., came here three years ago from her home city. A graduate of St. Catherine's Nurses Training school of Omaha, she has recently been on the nursing staffs of Orange County and St. Joseph hospitals. She had her early studies at Leigh High school.

The Rev. Father John Quanten officiated at the rites, attended by a little group of guests. Miss Coleman was attractively attired in a teal blue cloque costume with a burgundy doll hat worn with flaring veil, and burgundy accessories. Attending the bride was her aunt, Miss Ann Flanagan, of this city, wearing a dark blue costume. B. W. Flanagan of Santa Ana stood up with the bridegroom.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Siegel left for a honeymoon trip, planning to stop at Yosemite National Park, and then to Nebraska, where they will visit with the bride's parents. They will return in three weeks time to reside in Newport Beach, where Mr. Siegel is employed as civil engineer with the city of Newport Beach.

Business, Professional Women to Meet For Autumn Conference

Because their next October meeting date of October 17 would conflict with the opening night of the Santa Ana Artist series when Enzio Pinza will sing, Business and Professional Women have canceled plans for a club session on that date. Instead they will take advantage of the month's eighth Monday, and hold a special dinner party and guest night on October 11, in Ebell clubhouse, with Mrs. Marie Fowler as general chairwoman.

Coupled with plans for that event, clubwomen are anticipating also an autumn conference of Southern district to be held October 15 and 16 in Glenwood Mission Inn, Riverside, with Riverside county clubs as hostess organizations. Reservations for this event as well as for the Ebell dinner party, must be made through Miss Helen Gallagher, 2622. Members must have their conference reservations in to her by early next week.

Conference Program
Miss Dorothy Decker, member of the Santa Ana club, is president of Southern district, and has outlined the diversified program in prospect. Registration will be the first feature of the Saturday afternoon session, followed immediately by a board meeting featuring brief reports of county presidents, department chairmen and district officers.

Saturday night's banquet will be held at 7 o'clock with Mary Blair Wallace, well known consultant in the field of human relations, as guest speaker. Sunday morning will offer a musical breakfast at 8:30 o'clock under direction of Patricia Gestrom, with round table groups to convene at 10 o'clock. Subjects for discussions will be programs, education, legislation and public affairs.

"What women with a purpose and will to do, can do," will be the general theme to be developed by the guest speaker at the 11 o'clock assembly. This speaker will be Miss Avis Lobdell, special representative of the president of the Union Pacific railroad.

No plans are being made for a conference luncheon Sunday, since many of the members and officers will come from such a distance that they will want to start return journeys immediately after the assembly. However it is probable that those from nearer communities will remain for the afternoon with their Riverside county hostesses.

Hospitalities Have Setting In New Home

Yesterday afternoon was occasion of a meeting of Ebell decorating committee of which Mrs. Munro is chairman. Since this was the first visit to the home for several of the guests, they enjoyed inspecting the attractive rooms and furnishings.

After plans for the club year had been outlined, the hostess served refreshments, assisted by Mrs. E. C. Franson, vice chairman of decorating committee. Autumn leaves in burgundy tones were combined effectively with white sweet peas as a table centerpiece lighted by tapers in the same red shade.

Invited to share the event with Mrs. Munro and Mrs. Franson were Mesdames J. T. Wilson, Edward Walker, D. E. Liggett, Herbert Krahling, Clyde Walker, M. R. Daughters, Frank Latham, J. C. Lamb, John Mennes and C. E. Utt.

NIGHT COUGHING CAN OFTEN BE PREVENTED

If your child often coughs at night because of even a slight cold—do this at bedtime: Thoroughly massage Vicks VapoRub on throat, chest, and back. VapoRub's polio-vapor action tends to keep the air-passages clear, helping to maintain normal breathing through the nose, and so reducing mouth-breathing (the frequent cause of night coughs). Try it tonight—learn for yourself another reason why VapoRub is a family standby in more homes than all other medications of its kind put together.

Visitor from Missouri Is Complimented at Beach Luncheon

Adding another to the succession of pleasant courtesies being paid Mrs. Carl Clair since her arrival from St. Joseph, Mo., to visit her brother-in-law and sister, the John Geigers, 621 Riverine avenue, was an enjoyable day at the beach yesterday as guest of Mrs. J. E. Braden.

The Bradens, who recently purchased the Houck Apartments at Balboa, have been taking advantage of the warm autumn days to entertain a succession of guests in their pleasant suite. Yesterday, Mrs. Braden applied a marine motif to all details of entertainment and menu. Late morning hours were devoted to a stroll along the waterfront, intensely interesting to the Missouri guest.

No less keen was her enjoyment of the luncheon hour when the hostess served Pacific swordfish and Atlantic scallops as items of the delectable menu. Star fish, bright colored small shells and fern-like dried seaweed lent a marine touch to decorations. Places were indicated for the hostess, her honoree, Mrs. Clair, Mrs. Geiger, Mrs. Albert Raymond of Anaheim, and Mrs. Lewis Williams.

Chinese checkers of the after-luncheon program was varied by a swim, when Mrs. Clair had her first experience with ocean breakers, followed by a quieter dip in the bay.

At Tea Honoring
Visitor

Mrs. Carl Clair of St. Joseph, Mo., whose visit in this city with her sister, Mrs. John Geiger is bringing pleasure to a wide group of friends, was incentive for a tea Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Kenneth Loughton, 2050 South Birch street.

Hostesses were Mrs. Loughton, Mrs. J. L. Wilson and Mrs. John Fraley. They had arranged decorations in yellow and red, appointing the pretty-laden tea table with yellow glassware. Tapers and a centerpiece of zinnias furthered the theme, as did napkins designed with poppies. Individual china nutcrackers were used.

In the group with the three hostesses were Mrs. Clair, Mrs. Geiger and Mesdames Ted Faulkner, William Bassett, W. C. Patrick, L. L. Pratt, Virgil Kissner, Dale Altizer, Clyde O. Morrison, L. R. Ditton, C. B. Fondren, L. D. Spencer, William Humphrey and Doyle Ummel.

AT ART SCHOOL
That Miss Elsie Lee Huffine, daughter to Mrs. Oscar L. Huffine of Newport Heights, plans to continue her art studies in Los Angeles, was information received with much interest today by her many friends.

Miss Huffine, founder and president of the Orange Aides, has just completed a month's preparatory work at the new Mel-zian Art school in Los Angeles, and has found the course so valuable that she has registered for the coming year's studies. She is specializing at present on writing and illustrating child stories, a field capable of great development. She plans to return home at the coming week-end in time to preside at Friday night's program meeting of the Orange Aides in their clubhouse on Newport Heights.

Mixing Bowl
BY ANN MEREDITH

Are you thinking about a dessert for Sunday? Ice cream is always a happy choice, so why not ice cream? Run ice cream, to be exact. Use your favorite basic recipe for a vanilla cream, or use the convenient vanilla ice cream mix.

Run Ice Cream

1 box vanilla ice cream mix combined with 1 cup thin cream or top milk.
2 egg yolks beaten to thick froth with
1-2 cup powdered sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla and 1-3 cup rum or brandy.
1 cup double cream, whipped stiff.
2 egg whites beaten stiff.
—my, recipe.

After mixing the box of ice cream powder stir in the beaten yolks vanilla, rum and a tiny pinch of salt. Stir in whipped cream and fold in the beaten egg whites. Smooth the cream into the freezer pan and freeze. Examine the cream after the sides of the pan are well frozen and if the rum has seeped to the bottom, carefully stir the frozen edges into the center. The recipe makes six large servings.

Have you a favorite recipe for dessert, or an idea for doing some household task in faster time? How about exchanging your recipe or idea for one of our fine fat Calory Lists? Please enclose return addressed stamped envelope with your contribution.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Macaroni, Italian Style
2 pounds cut macaroni, washed and well cooked. Rinse in hot water and drain.

Parmesan cheese; grated to make a small bowlful.
Sauce:
1 bunch parsley
3 or 4 Swiss chard leaves, or a handful of spinach
6 or 7 sage leaves
Small sprig of fresh basil
1 or 2 sprigs of thyme
A pinch of dried rosemary

A few fresh mint leaves
3 or 4 cloves of garlic
1 large onion.

Chop by hand, or run through grinder, the items just listed. Cook in a skillet with 1-2 cup bacon fat until the herbs are nicely wilted. Then add 1 pound ground round steak and 1-2 pound bulk sausage, pinched in bits and cooked until the red leaves the meat. To this meat and herb mixture add:
1 quart canned tomatoes with 1-8 teaspoon, each, ground cloves, allspice and cinnamon.
Salt and pepper to taste.

Cook this sauce briskly for 30 minutes, stirring occasionally, then lower the heat and simmer slowly until the sauce is thick, dark and rich-looking. Add hot water if necessary and taste again, adding more salt and pepper if indicated.

Arranging the Dish

Turn the cooked hot macaroni into a wide saucepan and pour part of the sauce over the macaroni. Stir over a low fire until well mixed and very hot. Turn onto a hot platter rubbed with a cut clove of garlic, pour balance of meat sauce over macaroni and sprinkle with grated parmesan cheese.

Serve the dish with a plain lettuce salad dressed with olive oil and Italian wine vinegar and have plenty of crisp celery in addition to the salad. Dessert is immaterial, but lots of good coffee is one of your obligations as a hostess. Ten servings.

This is one of my most treasured contributions. Clip and save the recipe.

Plan For Vegetable Garden

Four Steps to a Well Planned Vegetable Garden

ADVICE GIVEN ON PLANTING

While good vegetables will grow in crooked rows or even if the seed is broadcast over beds, the work of cultivating and caring for the plants is immeasurably reduced if the seed is sown in straight rows. Take the trouble to stretch a line, and mark the row with exactness; it will save hours when the time comes to push a wheel hoe down the aisle between them.

Rows running north and south are best to let sunshine reach the soil after the plants are well grown. Distance between the rows may vary considerably. In small gardens, well supplied with plant food, rows of low-growing crops may be as close as 6 inches.

The best distance for crops not exceeding 2 feet in height is 18 inches, which enables you to cultivate each aisle in one trip with the wheel hoe. Seed catalogs usually state the space which each crop needs. These are relative rather than exact directions; you may vary them somewhat to fit your special needs, but remember that crowding your crops may reduce the yield.

Time spent in thinking out a garden program, deciding what you want to grow, and then drawing a plan, will be well repaid by results. Transferring this plan to your garden area is easy, if you proceed methodically. An evening's thought may save afternoons of labor; not that labor isn't good for you, but why waste it? In most gardens there will be other things to do.

Where directions say sow in a drill, it means a shallow furrow. Sowing in hills does not mean in elevations, unless you live in a section of heavy rainfall. It means a series of spots, evenly spaced, at each of which several seeds are sown, as contrasted with the continuous row which is termed a drill. Vine crops are usually sown in "hills," and only need room to spread.

Remember that to sow in straight rows, thin out properly so your plants have room to grow, to cultivate faithfully so the weeds never grow, and protect your plants against insects and diseases—these four points carefully observed will make your garden one of professional quality.

BIRDS NOT PESTS REPORT DECLARES

Many birds that save millions of dollars worth of crops each year are still misjudged by the farmer, according to a report from the Department of Agriculture.

The Baltimore Oriole, accused of damaging grapes and garden peas, actually does more good than harm. Caterpillars are their favorite fare, with side dishes of grasshoppers, spiders and weevils.

Farmers who tear swallows' nests from the barn eaves are turning out their best friends. Swallows catch their food on the wing and consume vast numbers of harmful flying insects. Woodpeckers are accused of damaging trees by their drillings. Yet each hole drilled means that the larva of a destructive wood-boring insect has been located and destroyed. Woodpeckers are among the most valuable conservationists.

A good way to keep robins out of the cherry orchard, says the Department, is to plant mulberry trees nearby. Both ripen at the same time and robins prefer mulberries. But in the course of a year's work even robins more than make up for cherries eaten, by the quantity of insects destroyed.

FLORAL APOSTLES

MUSHROOM OUT OF BOUNDS

ST. THOMAS, Ont. (UP)—Apples and mushrooms grew big in Elgin County this year. Frank Silcox produced a mushroom more than two feet in circumference on his farm, and Frank Graham picked a Wolf River apple from his orchard that was 14 inches in circumference and weighed 15 ounces.

Through the Garden Gate

With MARAM ADAMS

You probably either like cannas or you don't. There doesn't seem to be any halfway position in the matter. Someone has said you either adore or abhor dahlias. It seems to be the same way with cannas. Dahlia growers no doubt will be shocked at the idea of comparing the two blossoms.

Happening to be in the "adoring" class in regard to cannas, was greatly interested in seeing several varieties in blossom in the garden of E. M. Fox, 1002 West Camille street. These cannas, pale yellow ones with plain bright, green leaves, and dark red ones with the characteristic dark red leaves, have adopted the other's colors to such an extent, that on many of the plants leaves are half green and half dark red, the color dividing sharply at the midrib of the leaf.

The flowers too, are particularly colored. One has petals half pale yellow and half dark red. The color on the flower too, is sharply divided in the middle. Fox brought the plants to Santa Ana from Westwood where at one time they were part of the decorative scheme of a miniature golf course. When miniature golf died a sudden and unexplainable death shrubbery and plants were sold to a Japanese gardener who did not care for cannas.

Fox rescued the cannas left forlornly alone on the deserted tract of land. They have made bright bloom in his garden here over a period of years. While the red and yellow cannas have produced variegated flowers, it is noted that the pink and orange cannas seem heartily to disapprove of the idea.

Santa Ana may or may not be one of the few cities boasting a "ghost" miniature golf course. It is located at the corner of Third and Bush street and was operated by G. H. Platt for some time. Shrubs and trees have grown unmolested by golfers. Iron stands still mark the holes on the course which was open for a season, a few years ago. At any rate the course is attractive to the eyes of those passing and who can tell when miniature golf again may become popular, over night perhaps.

Noticed that the J. C. Hortons have planted the parking in front of their lovely new home, North Park boulevard, with English ivy. Saw this when "garden window shopping" yesterday. "Garden window shopping" is quite like the usual kind of window shopping only you drive about the town instead of walk about the streets.

Being displayed in many parking lots and yards right now are eucalyptus flowers. There are some trees with scarlet blooms on North Flower street and a big tree with orange blossoms near 1330 French street.

Driving along North Flower street no one could fail to notice the white garden of Dr. Milton McMurray at No. 2028. On each side of the front lawn are rows of white ruffled petunias while jasmine vines bearing white flowers are being trained to climb the slender white pillars of the porch.

Dr. McMurray who is a retired dentist has planned his own garden. White flowers only, are to be grown in the front yard. A petunia in a contrary vein recently produced a crop of white flowers streaked with purple. Where the Queen in "Alice in Wonderland" would have ordered "Off with its head!" Dr. McMurray merely says to a plant that fails to come white, "Up with the roots."

While the front yard is a symphony in white and green, there are splashes of vivid color in the patio at the south side of the home. The roof of the patio is to be of vines, offering protective shade to the lush garden bush which so far, with the help of Dr. McMurray, has withstood the bright sunshine flooding the white-walled space.

The home and garden are but a year and a half old. On the north side are rhododendrons, camellias and azaleas. Some fine dahlias are being grown in the back yard.

There was a red tomato ripening on the vine up at the Eddie West home at 2025 North Flower street this week. Tuesday morning when Mrs. West went out to view the one tomato produced by the garden's one vine she found that a large bite had been taken out of it. The big, brown eyes of young Eddie West, son of the home, had followed the growth of the tomato from its green babyhood, and suspicion is entertained, that as it grew redder and redder, Eddie was no longer able to resist sampling it.

Be that as it may, young Eddie certainly is interested in gardening. Yesterday morning he was "planting." Interviewed, he evaded the question of just what it was he was planting, but it may be reasonably supposed it was tomatoes! Young Eddie and his parents live next door to Dr. McMurray and no doubt he is emulating the doctor's example.

An unusual and attractive effect is achieved at 1714 French street where three large dark blue jars are set in a row across the porch of the home stressing a modern note in architecture. A shrub, perhaps juniper, is growing in each jar. The blue and green are

SERIAL STORY

MURDER TO MUSIC

BY NARD JONES

CAST OF CHARACTERS
MYRNA DOMBEY—heroine.
Wife of the sensational swing band leader.
ROBERT TAIT—hero. Newspaper photographer—detective.
ANNE LESTER—Myrna's closest friend.
DANNIE FEELEY—officer assigned to investigate Ludden Dombey's murder.

Yesterday, Police told Tait to bring in Myrna. He wonders where she is and he realizes, too, that somehow he is going to be in this affair to the end.

CHAPTER IV

THE taxi veered to the curb in front of the Claremont Apartments, and Bob Tait's foot was on the running board even before it stopped. Hurriedly he paid the driver and hurried him on. A quick glance told him that there was no police car parked nearby. He hoped that Officer Murphy hadn't come in a taxi and he traveled his easy nature by rushing things.

In the entrance way of the Claremont he almost collided with a woman on her way out. She was a striking honey-colored blond, almost too fragile and beautiful to be real. For a scant second her eyes met Tait's, then turned away. She hurried on and down the street, leaving a wake of not too faint perfume. Tait grinned to himself and let out an involuntary whistle.

At another time he might have speculated a little about that beautiful blond—but not now. He scanned the mail-box board, found a neatly lettered card with the names: Myrna Rogers—Anne Lester. Their apartment was on the third floor, and in his haste Tait scorned the automatic lift. The stairs he took three and four at a time.

HE listened a moment at the door before he pressed the bell. To his intense relief there was no sound of Mike Dunphy's indiscreet, blustering voice. But when Anne Lester opened the door her distracted eyes told him that trouble was brewing.

"Myrna's not here," she said. "What shall we do?"

Tait stepped inside the room and closed the door. "No note—nothing?"

The girl shook her head. "I don't believe she came here at all from the Pacific Plaza."

"This is bad," Tait told her. "Dunphy, from police headquarters, is on his way here now. It's going to look bad when he finds she isn't to be had."

He held Anne's gaze. "Are you sure you don't know where she might be?"

Anne shook her head. "I've been trying to think—ever since I got here. The—the only possibility that came to me is—is that what happened at the Golden Bowl made her lose her head."

For a moment Tait did not answer. He tried to fathom beyond Anne Lester's seemingly blank glance. "Listen," he burst out, "do you have any reason to believe that Myrna killed Dombey tonight? There must be—" He stopped, shrugged his shoulders. "It wouldn't do any good to ask you that. Even if you thought she were guilty, you'd lie for her."

Anne Lester's answer came swiftly. "You're right. I would go further than that for Myrna. But she didn't do it. She was in love with him. Couldn't you tell that when you walked up to that table tonight?"

"I'm afraid I had something else on my mind. You see, I'd just lost a job and was trying to figure a way to get it back. That's what I should be doing now. I wish I knew why I'm not."

Anne clutched his arm. "Please help us. I—I'm afraid. I know something was going to happen tonight. I kept feeling it. And I know this is going to mean trouble for Myrna. We've got to find her. We've—" She caught her breath, looked up at Tait with a sudden new light. "They might be at her new home! If they wanted to kill Lud Dombey, why wouldn't they want to kill his wife, too?"

TAIT tried to make his laugh sound easy. "Simply because she hasn't been his wife long enough to be mixed up in whatever it was that brought Lud Dombey to his last night tonight. But we've got to find her, that's certain." He opened the door into the hall. "And we've got to get out of here. Grab your hat."

"Why?"

"It'll be better to be scarce than to try to explain to Mike Dunphy why she isn't here. And he wouldn't quite be able to figure out what I'm doing up here, either. Is there a back way out of this place?"

Anne nodded. She had wrapped an ulster around the dress she'd worn as maid of honor. On her head was a smart brown felt. Her silver slippers and the gown dropping beneath the sport coat were an incongruity, but she gave no thought to that now. "We can get out this way," she told Tait, hurrying down the hall.

It was not a moment too soon. Somewhere below them boomed Mike Dunphy's bellowing query, "Where would be the apartment belongin' to Miss Myrna Rogers?"

Tait could not hold back a smile. It was like Mike to disturb the landlady and assert his authority rather than quietly examine the names on the lobby board. But right now Tait was glad for Officer Dunphy's idiosyncrasies. "Get your thinking cap on," Tait told Anne when they had gained the street. "I'm going to rent a car—taxi drivers can talk in court, and we might find later on that we'd rather not have this little jaunt on record." He took Anne by the arm, hurried her along. "I know a car rental place a few blocks from here. And while we're walking, try to figure out where we might have a look for Myrna."

Anne stopped momentarily, made a quick, excited gesture. "It's just a chance."

"What's just a chance?"

"The cottage. Or the shack—as Myrna called it. Her father left it to her. It's the only thing he'd leave, because he was a happy-go-lucky sort—but Myrna loves the place, and was always trying to save enough to have it fixed up."

"Where is it?"

"Out near Belleville, in the country. It's at least a three-hour drive."

"But what makes you think she'd go there?"

"She and I spent a week-end there one summer. I remember now that she said that if she ever got into trouble—lost her job, or anything like that—she'd go out there and think it over. She was half-joking, of course."

TAIT quickened his pace. "It's a good hunch, just the same. Remarks like that come back to a person when they're in a jam. We'll go there. But isn't there some spot in town she might hit? Another friend—or a cocktail bar?"

"I don't think Myrna would take her troubles to anyone but me," Anne said staunchly. "And she never went to cocktail bars alone. I don't think she'd do it now."

"Okay. Then we'll try the place in the country. At least the drive will do us good."

In a few moments they were wheeling along in a rented coupe, bound toward Belleville. The traffic was light at that hour, and Tait's headlights pierced quickly through the city. He and Anne were silent until they were on the north highway. Then Tait reached into his pocket and brought out Myrna's handbag.

"Ever see that before?"

"Of course. It's Myrna's. She had it tonight."

Tait nodded. "There was a gun in it, too. Did you know that?"

Slenderizer

Elizabeth Hawes, foremost American designer, showed this stunning two-tone ensemble at a recent Ritz-Carlton fashion show. The slenderizing dress, cut on the easy, flowing lines for which Miss Hawes is famous, is of sheer black wool with stripes of tan wool extending from shoulders to hemline at the front. Notice the high, bonnet turban.

the only colors used in contrast with the white house.

doing a wrong-way flight to popularity? — Hollywood is burning because of its stipulation against set-visitors. . . . That secret vacation Frances Dee and Joel McCrea are taking will cost them plenty—she missed a personal appearance tour at top money. . . . Stand by for a new Lawrence Tibbett single—he boated in from Australia Monday and two studios are already bidding. . . . Companion headlines in today's news: Errol Flynn leaves the hospital—Lili Damita leaves for Europe. . . . First American picture to hit the screen in Russia since Chaplin's "Modern Times" is "Snow White"—Stalin personally okayed it. . . . Marian Martin and Universal are still battling because the studio ordered her to wear tight in "Adam's Evening"—amusingly, she was a strip-teaser on the stage. . . . It's hearts and flowers for Gloria Youngblood and Morgan Conway—Shirley's Rudy Vallee's ex-thrill. . . . Studio orders ban college football for Mickey Rooney but he's not discouraged—he's trying out for yell leader at U. S. C. . . .

Governor Roy Smith of New Mexico wanted to meet his favorite star, Jane Withers and Darryl Zanuck personally escorted. His Excellency to the stage where she was working. "Nothing doing!" ruled Gertrude Visard, appointed by the Los Angeles School Board to teach Jane her A-B-Abs. "The state law requires all child actresses to complete their studies by 4 p. m. Come back later." The governor finally got in—but only by agreeing to give Jane a lesson in the history of New Mexico.

BELLS AND NO-BELLS: Best picture title on the coming attraction list is "Each Dawn I Die"—but "Problem Child," announced for Stan Laurel's next, isn't bad. . . . Chimes to "The Ugly Duckling," a new Walt Disney short—it's the best offering on this week's menu. . . . A big bang on that song to John Payne for overdoing the First Family of Virginia theme—or is the studio publicity department responsible? . . . A carillon to Antonio Moreno for having courage enough to accept an obscure bit as a come-back starter.

No-bells to Joan Bennett for being the first to follow that silly fad of dying the hair to match the costume—hers is powder blue. . . . And a dull thud to Tom Brown for letting his domestic troubles hash-up a promising career. . . .

Robert Willcox, urged by his studio to change his name, refused, contending that "there's nothing in a moniker." He must have been sincere for I've just discovered that he's taking flying lessons—from an instructor named Coffin!

BUILDING PERMITS SOAR

Valuation of building in Santa Ana during the present year passed the $1,000,000 mark this week. The total valuation of building during the entire year of 1937 was slightly over $1,200,000, so indications are that this year will exceed that of the preceding year.

A large per cent of the building this year, as is true in most of the communities of the county, was for the construction of new homes, while repairs and remodeling of homes and business houses accounted for a better than average figure.

The increase in construction is not confined, however, to Santa Ana. The beach cities, especially Newport Beach and Laguna Beach have had more building during the first nine months of this year than they had during the entire year of 1937.

AN EDUCATIONAL AD

On another page appears an informative statement by the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, discussing the proposed tax on chain stores, as proposed by the Hon. Wright Patman. This corporation very clearly sets forth the reasons why this tax will not be to public interest.

The Register believes the advertisement is very educational and informative and should be read by every person who is interested in good government.

The Register, of course, does not believe in any discriminatory taxes and this tax is unfair, un-American, unethical and undemocratic. For this reason, it is not to public interest. It violates the principle of the Universal Rule being the Golden Rule and, if passed, together with other discriminatory taxes, can only lead to more confusion, more misery, more suffering and a lower standard of living.

OCEAN DRILLING MEASURES

Two legislative measures will appear on the November 8 ballot that should, and undoubtedly will, be repudiated. They are the measures designed to authorize ocean drilling at Huntington Beach and the importance of repudiating these two bills is making itself felt over the entire state.

Clean oil fields are a physical impossibility. It is impossible to seat joints so that they don't leak. Ordinarily it doesn't matter because they are under the ground. But if these wells are ever drilled in the ocean off Huntington Beach as contemplated in the two measures it won't be necessary to blow in out of control or for any pipes to break. There will be enough unavoidable leakage around the joints so that the Orange county beaches won't be worth a thin dime. It requires only a thin film of oil on the surface of the water to shut off the oxygen from the sardines and with the sardines killed, the larger fish will go elsewhere looking for food. All of which means the ruin of sport and commercial fishing in Orange county waters.

The two measures were carefully camouflaged to give the appearance of a crusade against certain powerful oil companies. The real issue is whether or not the people are ready to surrender the priceless rights and benefits of their ocean front to any oil companies.

The people of this state already have registered a thunderous NO to this question upon five separate occasions and are preparing an even more emphatic NO for the November election.

Californians do not settle such questions by appeals to prejudice. They know their oil and do not regard oil drilling as a marine operation. Good, hard common sense decrees that drilling must be confined to the land where the damage will be minimized.

As to any revenue that properly belongs to the state, the Huntington Beach situation, and any other that is likely to arise, is covered by legislation that already exists. It is apparent that the two measures are utterly needless.

COLORADO'S PENSION EXPERIENCE (From Los Angeles Times)

By Wesley Smith

Colorado's experience with the $45 a month old-age pension plan may serve as a warning to other states where similar legislation is brewing, according to Oliver J. Miller of the Cowles Commission for Research in Economics.

Mr. Miller presents in the current issue of the Annalist a brief review of the major requirements for the pensioners and also the sums of money it is costing the state, showing "what a farce and also what a tragedy this piece of legislation has turned out to be."

Terrific Problem

Financially Colorado is facing a terrific problem to keep going. Mr. Miller writes, although only a few years ago it was priding itself upon its excellent financial condition. In the spring the closing of state institutions, even the penitentiary and insane asylum, was being discussed in the newspapers. This was avoided by stringent economies and by the exercise of a so-called "power bill" enabling the governor to suspend for a period of ninety days any or all of the employees of a state department.

Certain departments were thus cut so as to operate with a skeleton force, making a 10 per cent cut in state expenses and a saving of $4300 a day. The State Treasurer's report for the fiscal year ended June 30, last, showed collections of $59,551,015 for the year against disbursements of $69,346,517, a deficit of nearly $10,000,000 of income over expenses. And included in Colorado's income was $11,000,000 of Federal funds.

Requirements Listed

To be eligible for a Class A old-age pension, a person must be 65 years of age, a citizen of the United States, and must have resided in Colorado five out of the last nine years, the last year continuously. He may own the property in which he lives (no maximum value is set on this) and other personal property not to exceed $250. A rental allowance of a small amount is deducted if he does own his own home. He may have an income from other sources, and so long as it does not amount to $45 the law provides for the state to make up the difference. There is no limit to the number in one family who may be drawing pensions, and if they are all living under the same roof the rental allowance is divided equally among them, making a smaller sum deductible for each of them.

There are cases of four people living in the same house, drawing $45 a month each, or $180 a

THE VIRTUOUS POOR

The trouble with the government attempting to give more and more services to people is that it works such a hardship on the virtuous, honest worker that he has a tendency to eventually become discouraged and give up trying.

And who are the virtuous poor? It would seem that the virtuous poor are those people who want no special privileges, who demand no reward for a service that his neighbor cannot have for equal service. These people who are obliged to compete against the vicious rich and the vicious poor (and there are both kinds) are the ones we should all be intensely interested in because, if this group becomes less and less, we all go down together.

And everytime the government attempts to do something for someone that it does not do for everyone, it must take something from some worker. Doing this, lowers the real wages of the worker who is not receiving the assistance. It lowers the aggregate wages of all workers because of the inefficiency and lack of production of the great horde of administrators and bureaus attempting to do something for some pressure group. So this extending of government succor, under the guise of helping the poor is, in reality, taking from the virtuous poor and giving to the less worthy poor.

If these reformers and politicians and educators have any way of taxing people that does not fall on the sweat of every man's labor, then they can conscientiously advocate an extension of government services. If they cannot, they certainly are not consistent.

WHO ARE THE AGGRESSORS?

Inasmuch as the original purpose of a democratic government was to protect the individual from aggressors from within and from without, the problem of who are aggressors from within must be decided before the government can do a good job of its primary functions.

One of the primary things a government has to do under a free enterprise system of democracy is to enforce a contract that is entered into voluntarily, as we know the word "voluntarily." This is true because, as Herbert Spencer pointed out years ago, "a breach of contract is an indirect aggression and the man who makes a contract and does not live up to it is an aggressor against society."

But it is very difficult for the government to do this when it is so careless about living up to its own contract. When we start a double standard of morals, one for the state and one for the individual, we have lost a fundamental principle of justice, equity and progress; namely, that the Universal Rule is the Golden Rule.

The state cannot, and will not, intelligently enforce contracts on individuals when it does not keep its own promises.

UNFAIR TO LABOR

The next time you hear the expression, "unfair to labor," ask what labor is being treated unfairly.

Invariably the contenders that an employer is unfair to labor mean that he will not discriminate against other laborers and the consumer, in order to benefit a certain labor group that sets itself up as the final say as to what wages and conditions should be. If this employer, who is claimed to be unfair to labor, is willing to give all labor an equal opportunity and is unwilling to show discrimination against any laborers, he is following the principle that the Universal Rule is the Golden Rule.

If a man is to be declared unfair to labor because he does not do what some self-appointed party who furnishes no employment himself, thinks he should do, then there will be as many ideas as to what unfair to labor means as there are reformers. The question is whether it is unfair to labor for an employer to insist that he has no right to pay employees more than his customers are willing to do the identical work for and as a result attempt to keep the price of his product up. Instead of being unfair to labor to do this, it is certainly being fair. To keep the price up to customers is unfair and customers are laborers past or present.

month altogether, and doing it legitimately. There are over $4,000 of these Class A pensioners on the rolls at the present time with approximately 47 per cent of all citizens over 65 years of age receiving pensions.

A second group, called Class B pensioners, composing the ages from 60 to 65 years, has much stricter qualifications, but 300,000 people have qualified to date for this group which is still growing.

Threat to Schools
To date the revenue from sources specified has not been enough to pay the full $45 each month, exclusive of the year-end "jackpot" payment. Deductions because of reduced tax collections amounted roughly to $8 in February, $13 the next four months, $11 in July and $14 in August. Attorneys for pensioners have threatened court action to compel the payment of the full $45, even if other revenue sources are taken. They have their eyes on the income tax fund which would take funds used at present for the schools.

Colorado at present is raising $25,000,000 more in taxes than it did six years ago and practically all of it is going for various forms of relief, with the rolls growing all the time so that their requirements will very soon pass this mark. To complicate the problem further the last Assembly appropriated about $2,000,000 more than it had revenue for.

With a total tax revenue from all sources amounting to $55,000,000 the State Legislature has control of spending of only $4,500,000. To change this situation, Mr. Miller points out that not only would the state constitution have to be changed but over 200 existing laws would have to be repealed. This in the face of the fact that every person who is adversely affected would be fighting the change shows that the chances are slight for early relief from this burden.

Combine Formed

Following the evasion of the pension issue by both parties this summer, the pensioners threatened to put a third party in the field but later decided upon a "combine" with the C.I.O. labor group including the Workers' Alliance, W.P.A. organization. This combine claims to control 100,000 votes out of the state's 400,000. Out of fifty-nine of the seventy candidates for Legislature from Denver county questioned, this group reports fifty-two have signed a pledge to support the present pension program.

Starting the first concrete action against the program, Robert Rhea, well-known Dow-theorist and financial writer, has raised the question of a tax strike, and also of an income tax on old-age pensions which would iron out the inequalities now existing.

General Hugh S. JOHNSON SAYS

NEW YORK CITY—I have just had a brief amateurish dip into a job wure for seven years I used to be a professional, trying to help finance a small company with excellent prospects for development and profits. This was on the basis of friendship and on as clean and safe a proposition as I have seen.

Some years ago this would have been a cinch. Good as it is, it is too small an undertaking and not sufficiently "weathered" to justify a public issue of stock. What it needs is some group of investors each putting up several thousand dollars in the hope of substantial profits. That formerly was the usual and accepted way of handling enterprises in this field.

It seems to have gone with the wind. It requires people who have capital and hence incomes above the medium and who can afford to take a risk. In every old-time source of such financing where I steered my friends, they got the same answer, "Sure it looks swell, but I can't afford it. If I lose, I lose it all. If I win, the government takes so much of it in taxes that there is absolutely nothing attractive in the risk."

Some months ago I saw another example of this which was more convincing. A friend and his partner had worked out the "geology" on what appeared to be an extension of the very lush East Texas oil pool. By a lucky break they had options on leases on ten thousand acres surrounding the spot where they proposed to sink a well. They needed a relatively small amount of money to drill that well.

I took them to a rich man who promised them the money, for which engagement they set aside a considerable interest for him in the venture. He went abroad. By the time he had come home, the well was three-quarters complete. Indications all the way down had proved good. If the "geology" had proved out, my friend's interest might possibly have been worth millions. I went to him rather jubilantly to tell him of the brilliant prospect to be proved or disproved within a week.

He hadn't paid much attention to the deal before. But as I painted the rosy picture as it then stood, he actually turned pale. "Can you get that thing out of here before that well comes in with any such possible result as that?" Astonished, I told him that, since it was still an unproved gamble, I might give it away for him. "Well," he almost shouted, "get it out of here—right now! Give it away! If necessary, I'll pay to have somebody take it."

I lost no time doing that. The well came in dry. But, before that, he had told me what was the matter. Under the deal as drawn, a large part of the possible profits would have accrued quickly. Not only could it have pushed the combined state and federal taxes on this particular gain above $3 per cent, but its effect on death duties and inheritance taxes could have resulted in no profits at all but, on the contrary, a total tax effect—incalculable as it sounds—of about 110 per cent, not to mention the effect on the value of the estate of liquidating it quickly to pay taxes in cash.

There is no arguable question that the effect of our tax struc-

Editor Register:

In answer to a Clearing House contribution of mine Mr. Colbeck recently wrote:

"I read with interest Mr. Betts' vain attempt in the Clearing House to apologize for the potency of organized religion. However Mr. Weeks was not so easily silenced. Pious platitudes do not win arguments."

We may as well leave Mr. Weeks to speak for himself: he has certainly demonstrated that he has the ability, and I agree with Mr. Colbeck that "pious platitudes do not win arguments" but neither do deliberate misrepresentations. I now ask Mr. Colbeck to point out just one pious platitude in my contribution as I shall here point out many inconsistencies in his, and want of space alone prevents my pointing out a score or so more.

First Mr. Colbeck speaks of my attempt to apologize for organized religion; this is a misrepresentation. It was the natural religion "inherent in man" which I said was not dying. The forms, that is organization, I said were undergoing a process of constant change. I am sure Mr. Colbeck knows the difference between natural and organized religion. But does Mr. Colbeck know when reasoning is inconsistent?

Mr. Colbeck in reply to Mr. Weeks says that religion would not die because it was ingrained in the very nature of man. Mr. Colbeck is contending that I was wrong, that the attempt is vain. How does he refute my argument? "True," says Mr. Colbeck, "man is a religious animal—but that does not mean that he must be a church member or accept the orthodox creeds as the rule of life."

Well I am not a church member and do not accept any orthodox creed as my rule of life, but I do contend that so long as man is a religious animal, that fact may be advanced as argument that religion is not dying. Mr. Colbeck introduces the same fact to prove that I am wrong. Is such reasoning consistent? Again he says—"man is incurably religious but he must also be intelligent."

Well if man is incurably religious, that proves my contention with Mr. Weeks and my attempt was not as Mr. Colbeck contends, in vain. But I am afraid that his argument disproves his assertion that man is necessarily intelligent. But here indeed is a gem of consistency, a fair sample I would say of most of Mr. Colbeck's reasoning: He asserts that there are three natural laws. I quote only the first two. First, "we reap what we sow." Second, "man experiences many conditions over which he had no control; which he did not bring upon himself. He is the victim of circumstances." If Mr. Colbeck will find me just one eighth grade school boy who can not instantly detect the glaring inconsistency in his reasoning, I will be glad to share it.

It is a barren, futile gesture to "share our wealth." It kills its own purpose and the possibility of prosperity for everybody by preventing the creation of wealth to share.

tency in the above two statements I will admit that he is probably correct in all his reasoning.

Mr. Colbeck says, "Eighty-five per cent of the people of the U. S. A. never enter a church door." The latest available government census statistics show that fifty-five per cent of the people in the U. S. are church communicants. Here I admit is a conflict of authority; but I think I prefer the census reports.

Of all the deliberate misrepresentations in Mr. Colbeck's article I hold this the most flagrant. I quote, verbatim—"That an intelligent God reveals truth through a crucified Christ was rightly admitted by Mr. Betts as superstitious ignorance. The bloody mutilation of a human being as an inexcusable mistake, the unpardonable sin."

The above statement was most certainly inexcusable, though I hardly think it merits the name mistake. My statement which Mr. Colbeck pretends to repeat was that God reveals Himself and His purposes to the human race in the PERSON of the crucified Christ; not in the crucifixion. The revelation was of God in the Christ. The crucifixion was by man. But now that we are on the subjects of ignorance and superstition, let us trace them to their legitimate source.
